4 to 5% rise in food prices predicted

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Consumers will see retail food prices in the second half of 1974 rising 4 to 5 per cent instead of declining as predicted before the summer drought decreased harvest prospects, the Agriculture Department said today.

Analyists added in a Food Situation summary that because of the drought, retail food prices for all of 1974 are expected to average about 15 per cent above 1973 instead of the 12 per cent forecast earlier.

The increase would be slightly above last year's 14.5 per cent rise and would be the biggest one year jump in food costs in 28 years, experts said.

Another Agriculture Department report showed the cost of a typical market basket of farm-produced foods dipped 0.3 per cent in July because food retailers and processers — offsetting an increase in the cost of raw farm products — narrowed their margins 3 per cent below the record June level.

The retail cost of the market basket fell in July to an annual rate of $1,726, down $5 from June, but 2.7 per cent above last January and 12.9 per cent, or $197, above a year earlier.

The July decline, however, may be the last consumers will see for some time, the food situation summary indicated.

Raw farm product prices have been rising since June because weather conditions and drought throughout the Midwest have reduced crop production estimates. Economists said, as a result, they are scrapping a forecast that retail food prices would remain steady from July through September and decline slightly after that.

The new forecasts call for an increase of about 3 per cent in July-September and an additional 1 per cent or so in October-December.

Much of the third quarter increase will come in crop products such as vegetable oil, baked goods, drinks and sugar products and canned and frozen fruits and vegetables, experts said. They predicted meats and other livestock foods would increase "moderately" before stabilizing in October-December.

Meat prices may decline seasonally toward the end of the year, running counter to the general food trend, and may offset increases for other livestock foods like poultry and eggs, the report said.

IN NEW ROLES

Rocky cool toward Nixon prosecution

SEAL HARBOR, Maine (UPI) — Vice presidential nominee Nelson' A. Rockefeller said today he felt that former President Nixon should not be punished further for his role in the Watergate scandal.

Rockefeller, speaking to newsmen at his vacation compound, said he agreed with the assessment of Senate Republican Leader Hugh Scott who said that Nixon "had already been hung and shouldn't now be drawn and quartered."

"I think that's a very good expression," Rockefeller said.

"Now I'm not a lawyer," Rockefeller said. "This is really a matter for the courts. Congress doesn't have the power to grant him amnesty".

On the question of amnesty for draft resisters Rockfeller said he agreed with President Ford's statement that the attorney general and defense secretary should work together to find a way that the resisters can "work their way back into American society."

Pan Am pleads for $10 million a month subsidy

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Plagued by mounting debts, Pan American Airways today urged the Civil Aeronautics Board to approve an emergency $10 million-a-month subsidy to avoid an "imminent" financial crisis.

"Unless prompt action is received, the airline may soon experience a cash shortage and consequent inability to meet its obligations as they fall due," the airline said in a petition to the board.

Pan American, the nation's largest overseas airline, has been faced with rapidly rising fuel costs triggered by the energy crisis, and a decline in airline passenger traffic.

In April, Pan American asked the CAB for a $194 million subsidy to offset its rising costs. In today's petition, the airline asked for a temporary subsidy, retroactive to April, pending the board's final decision.

Pointing out that the board's final decision "is many months away," the airline said its "financial condition does not permit that type of delay."

Pan American reported a loss of almost $33 million in the first half of 1974. In the same period in 1973, the airline lost $19 million.

According to the petition, Pan Am said "its current projections show a need to borrow money by October."

"Establishment of a temporary subsidy mail rate is thus urgently required to stave off the imminent financial crisis" facing the airline, the petition said.

Pan Am told the CAB that if it is unable to meet its obligations as they fall due, this "may trigger consequences of the gravest import to the national interest."

Valley narcotics investigation ends in 23 arrests

A 90-day concentrated narcotics investigation culminated Thursday night with the arrest of 19 adults and four juveniles in the West End area on alleged narcotics and drug violations.

At least seven residences in Upland, Ontario, Pomona and Fontana were raided by officers.

Quantities of heroin; amphetamines, LSD, marijuana and other dangerous restricted drugs were confiscated by the more than 30 sheriff's deputies, police and San Bernardino County Regional Task Force personnel while serving arrest warrants issued by the San Bernardino County Municipal Court.

"For more than 90 days our undercover officers have been engaged in a buy program in the West End area," said Capt. Charles Follett, task force commander. Sheriff Frank Bland directed the raids that began about 9 p.m. Thursday night.

According to Bland, it was the 92nd major drug raid conducted by the sheriff's office and the regional task force.

Booked in the West End Jail were Henry Kim Collings, 18, of 204 W. J St. Ontario, charged with being in a place where narcotics were being used; Pamela Jean Houstoun, 18, of 1631 E. Berkely Ct., Pomona, for being in a place; Kathy Ann LaCroix, 19, and Dale Michael LaCroix, 20, both of 13738 Slover Ave., Fontana, for sale of aphetamines and marijuana. $20,000 rug, stolen from college, recovered in Oregon

A $20,000 oriental rug stolen in the burglary June 22 of the School of Theology at Claremont was returned from Oregon Thursday night by sheriff's detectives who said it had been traded for a car there.

The rug was among items valued at $150,000 stolen in the break-in. Five persons have been arrested in connection with the burglary, including former school janitor Ronald Van Gaalen, 21, of San Dimas.

In announcing the recovery, sheriff's officers also revealed that they have made the fifth arrest in the case. The newest suspect is Edward Jasenka, 21 year-old Long Beach man. He joins Van Gaalen, and Richard Keith Cooke, 20, David Randolph Hoare, 21, and Ronald Anthony Verri, 40, of Long Beach, as suspects in the burglary.

Investigators said that burglars broke into the school and stole 55 rare books, wall hangings, valuable dishes, glasses, stoneware, statues and other art objects, and claimed Van Gaalan advised them how to do it without setting off alarms.

The suspects have been arraigned in Los Angeles Municipal Court and are scheduled for preliminary hearing there Monday.

Detectives said the rug was traced to Ashland, Ore., where it had been traded for a used car. The officers recovered it with the use of a search warrant and it was delivered to Los Angeles Internatonal Airport Thursday night for return to the school.

The only item missing is a rare Bible edition, they said.

Chicago raids net $9 million in drugs

CHICAGO (UPI) — Police and federal agents seized heroin and cocaine valued at nearly $9 million and arrested nine persons early today in a series of raids which authorities said crushed a major drug-smuggling ring in the Chicago area.

"These raids broke up a ring supplying a major portion of the heroin found in the metropolitan area," one narcotics investigator said.

Pension reform bill clears Congress

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Congress has passed the first comprehensive retirement legislation since the Social Security Act of 1934, a pension reform bill designed to assure more than 20 million Americans they actually will receive the pensions they earn.

President Ford will sign the landmark legislation in a ceremony that may come, symbolically, on Labor Day.

Strict new standards are imposed on how long a worker can be employed before being included in a company pension plan, how the pension must be funded and managed, and how soon an employe must become vested —that is, entitled to a pension at retirement age regardless of tenure.

Generally, an over-25 employe would have to be included in a plan after one year of work, and would be guaranteed at least a partial pension after five to 10 years, depending on which vesting standard the company uses.

Any worker would be guaranteed a full pension after 15 years in one pension plan and could not be denied a pension even if job tenure is broken by layoffs, sickness or rehiring by the same company after a resignation.

The bill, which could open a new era of worker rights, would also set up a federal government insurance corporation similar to the federal agencies that now protect bank and savings deposits. It would pay a worker's pension up to $750 a month if the company defaults on its pension obligations.

New disclosure standards require access to pension documents and financial statements to all members of the plan, and require a company to give its workers a clear, easy-to-understand explanation of their pension rights and benefits.

The Senate gave 85-0 approval to the compromise bill Thursday, two days after overwhelming passage by the House.

The bill falls short of many of the goals originally envisioned for it. It does not require any company to start a pension, it does not set a minimum dollar level of pension payments and does almost nothing for the worker who changes jobs frequently or the worker under 25 years old.

But for the average worker who spends five to 10 years or longer with one company or under one pension plan, the legislation guarantees at least a partial pension.

About 30 to 35 million workers are now covered by private pension plans with assets in excess of $160 billion, but it was estimated that without the new protection only one-fifth to one-third of them would ever collect a pension.

Thousands have lost a lifetime of pension rights when they were laid off just before retirement age, or when a plant moved to another section of the country, or when they discover that the company put too little money into the pension fund or used it for personal purposes.

"For the first time in our history, most workers will be able truly to retire at retirement age and to live decently on their Social Security and private pensions," said Sen. Jacob Javits, R-N.Y., one of the pioneers of pension reform.

Solar energy enthusiasts hear bright predictions

FORT COLLINS, Colo. (UPI) — Solar energy enthusiasts, buoyed by the prediction their industry could top $77 billion a year, headed into the final day today of the International Solar Energy Society Conference at Colorado State University.

Terrence R. Caster, President of a California firm which built the first complete housing subdivision with solar energy in the country, told the 1,200 delegates the economic potential of harnessing sun power could rival the U.S. auto industry.

"There are some two million new single family homes built in this country each year," Caster said Thursday. "We believe all these homes should be constructed with solar energy systems. In addition, we see some 20 million solar heating conversions a year for existing homes.

"Multiply this total of 22 million homes an estimated $3,500 per conversion and you see $77 billion as this new American industry's potential," he said. "In a decade, the solar energy industry in home building could equal the entire U.S. automobile industry."

Caster, president of Energy Systems Inc., of San Diego, Calif., agreed with another featured speaker at the confereence that the government at all levels should be anxious to jump on the bandwagon.

"The more we learn about the economics and conveniences of this free and unlimited energy source, the stronger we feel about the need for governing bodies at every level in America to take a stand on solar energy applications," Caster said.

Sheldon H. Butt, president of the newly-formed Solar Energy Industries Association (SEIA), said government sponsored research was needed because "no firms with substantial research capability are motivated to undertake large programs to improve the state of solar technology."

He said corporate enterprises producing conventional energy get competition whenever a homeowner installs solar heating equipment and becomes an energy producer.

"A two-step program is most suited to the consumer and the national interest," said Butt, director of Market Research and Planning for Olin Brass Corp. of East Alton, Ill.

"We envision a portion of the initial investment in solar systems paid by direct grant to the consumer with the balance covered by a low-cost loan," he said. "Investment and interest subsidies would be on a sliding scale."

Voluntary integration for school staffs OK'd

LOS ANGELES (UPI) — A voluntary integration plan to correct racial imbalances in teaching and administrative staffs was ordered drawn up Thursday by the City School Board.

In the 5-1 vote approving the proposed voluntary plan, the Board anticipates achieving racial balance throughout the District's 569 schools. The board noted that 343 schools do not currently meet federal integration standards for teaching and administrative staffs.

School Superintendent William Johnston said that staffing of schools has largely been at the teachers' choice, leading to an uneven distribution by race.

Teachers will be asked under the plan to voluntarily transfer to schools targeted for integration.

Areas most affected by the plan will be the San Fernando Valley, where most teachers are white, and South Los Angeles, where most teachers are black or chicano.

Full integration would be accomplished by July 1, 1976, if the plan is implemented and found successful. Expected cost of the program is $65,639.

The plan, board members feel, will avoid federal intervention into faculty racial distribution.

The members cited a similar plan ordered in 1970 by U.S. District Court Judge Manuel Real to integrate the Pasadena Unified School District. A contempt citation is now pending against the Pasadena District for allegedly resistance to the order.

Dr. J. C. Chambers, the dissenting board member, said the federal government was attempting to "blackmail" the district into adopting the measure by threatening to withhold $5 million in grants.

Robert Unruhe, president of the United Teachers of Los Angeles, fully supports the voluntary integration plan.

The Professional Educators of Los Angeles group opposes the plan, saying that racial imbalance is no proof that discrimination has occurred.

Suspect groggy before killing, witness says

A 22-year-old Ontario man accused of strangling his girlfriend to death in his home July 23 "appeared to be groggy" and was rushed to an Ontario hospital suffering from some type of seizure the day before the woman's body was found, according to a witness testifying in a preliminary hearing Thursday.

C. B. Holder, a friend of defendant, Gary Lee Dacanay of 945 Nocta St., Ontario, testified in the West Valley Municipal Court that the defendant and the victim, Sharon Cramer, 21, on July 21 came to visit them after a trip in Northern California.

Holder said when he saw Dacanay that day he seemed "like a person in a stupor, but rational." On the following day Holder said he saw Dacanay and Mrs. Cramer again at the Nocta Street home. Holder said that Decanay was lying prone on the bed, "apparently unconscious."

Holder said that he and Mrs. Cramer were unable to rouse the defendant and called for an ambulance. Dacanay was taken to Ontario Community Hospital for treatment where a doctor recommended that Decanay go to the San Bernardino County Hospital for further treatment. Holder said he took the defendant to the county hospital where Decanay had second thoughts and wanted to return home.

Holder said the next day, July 23, Decanay appeared at his home early in the morning still seeming "a little groggy" and asked to be taken to the county hospital again. Holder said he would take the defendant later in the morning and Decanay returned to his home. Holder said that he picked Decanay up at his home about noon July 23, and took him to the county hospital.

Later that afternoon Dacanay and his wife found Mrs. Cramer dead in the defendant's home.

Cause of man's death in store is undetermined

What caused the death of 24-year-old Michael Edward FAir Wednesday evening after a liquor store fight in Pomona remained undetermined today following the autopsy on his body at the Los Angeles County Coroner's Office.

Fair, 2176 Sonora St., Pomona, collapsed after the fight and died a few minutes later at Pomona Valley Community Hospital.

Three young men were arrested in connection with his death. They are Ralph Langston, 19, Clifford Earl Spivey, 19, and Michael Singleton, 20. They remained in custody this moring and were scheduled to be viewed by witnesses to the fight in a lineup at the police station later today.

Meanwhile, the district attorney's office has declined to act in the case without a definite medical opinion from the coroner's office on the cause of death. That will not be available until sometime next week after further tests.

The fight at Frank's Liquors, 588 E. La Verne Ave., apparently was over who was standing in line for service first, authorities said.

Legislator immunity to tickets defeated

SACRAMENTO (UPI) — A bill which would have probably made legislators immune to routine traffic tickets was defeated at a late-night Senate committee hearing Thursday.

The bill (AB3229) was sponsored by Assemblyman John J. Miller, D-Oakland, the newly appointed chairman of the important Assembly Judiciary Committee.

It was defeated in the corresponding Senate Judiciary Committee on 2-6 vote, with seven votes needed for passage.

Miller, whose driving record at the Department of Motor Vehicles shows he has been convicted at least twice this year for speeding, was not present at the hearing.

His bill, worded in technical language, actually does not mention legislators or traffic tickets.

Instead, it simply stated that "infractions" of the law should be "civil" violations of the law, not "criminal."

The reason, he said in an interview, was because persons charged with an infraction do not have the right to a jury trial and representation by a lawyer, and therefore should not be subject to conviction of a "criminal" offense.

Also, he said, job applicants who had traffic tickets would not have to say "yes" when asked if they had ever been convicted of a crime.

Most driving offenses now are considered infractions. Not included are the most serious violations, such as drunken driving, hit-and-run and reckless driving.

The state constitution specifically grants legislators immunity from the civil processs while in session, or for five days before and after.

Legislators now are in session almost continually—from the first Monday in one even numbered year to Nov. 30 of the following even numbered year. Thus, it would appear they would have had total immunity under Miller's bill.

Records from the Department of Motor Vehicles last month showed California legislators were convicted of at least 69 driving offenses in the last three years. Some of the lawmakers had not been elected to office when cited.

Miller said the exemption of lawmakers was not the purpose of his legislation.

He was an opponent of reducing California's speed limit to 55 miles an hour, and unsuccessfully carried a bill that would have prohibited the Highway Patrol from enforcing limits "enacted primarily for economic reasons."

Pipefitters ask more time off, not more money

LOS ANGELES (UPI) — Southern California pipefitters are striking for more leisure time even though it will mean lower pay.

Involved in the time-versus-wages dispute are about 2,000 members of the Plumbers and Pipefitters Union, whose strike has shut down most major industrial construction jobs relating to oil refineries, generating plants and other manufacturing plants.

The workers have rejected an offer by the Associated General Contractors to boost wages and fringe benefits by $98.80 a week in one year if they will work a 40-hour week.

The industrial pipefitters want the same work schedule negotiated for plumbers in the construction industry, which is an alternating 32-hour and 40hour week for an average of 36 hours a week or a regular 36-hour week.

"It's a strange strike, because the men are, in effect, striking to take less money," said a spokesman for the contractors' association.

The spokesman said the pipefitters would make only $88.92 a week more in wages and fringe benefits, as opposed to $98.80 a week more for 40 hours work.

Dick Lusk, financial secretary-treasurer of Pipefitters Local 250, said "management has twisted this thing all around.

"Workers for decades have sought to reduce their hours of work, not just to get more lesiure time, but to spread the amount of work among more people.

"Now, management is trying to make it sound like we're doing something strange by striking for less money," Lusk said. "The truth is we're striking to keep all of our contracts the same, and to do what workers have always done —get a decent paycheck and some leisure time, and share the work with our fellowworkers."

Demos reject unclaimed bank account measure

SACRAMENTO (UPI) — Democrats turned back legislation in a Senate committee Thursday night which would have limited service charges by banks on unclaimed accounts turned over to the state.

Several members of the Senate Judiciary Committee raised questions whether millions of dollars—$40 million to $80 million were the figures used—might have been charged illegally or immorally by banks over past years.

Democratic Sens. David A. Roberti of Los Angeles, Alan Robbins of Van Nuys and Omer L. Rains of Ventura laid the blame on Republican Controller Houston I. Flournoy, the GOP nominee for governor.

"This money was owing to the state of California and Mr. Flournoy didn't collect it," Roberti said.

Flournoy's office handles the transfer of unclaimed accounts from banks to the state treasury.

Roberti demanded a full investigation before any bill was approved which specified the rates.

The measure (AB3575) by Republican Assemblyman Frank Murphy Jr. of Santa Cruz would have allowed a service charge of up to $12.50 for accounts of $500 or less. For larger accounts, no charge would have been permitted.

"Before we give them $12.50 on each account, they ought to give us $40 million," Roberti declared.

The bill was defeated on a 5-3 vote, two short of approval.

Murphy said he shared the Democrats' concern, but said the issue of past service charges was "not black and white."

Committee Chairman Alfred Song, D-Monterey Park, warned that without imposing some limits, the alleged practice of exhorbitant service charges could continue.

Burglary complaint filed against wounded suspect

A burglary complaint has been filed by Arcadia police against John E. Louderback, 30-year-old Claremont resident who was shot as a burglary suspect Aug. 21.

Louderback, 445 W. 10th St., was reported in fair condition at the Jail ward of County-USC Medical Center. He underwent surgery at the county hospital the day he was wounded.

Arcadia Police Capt. Billy Oliver said that Louderback was scheduled for arraignment today, but would be unable to be in court because of his medical condition. Oliver expected the court then to issue a warrant for Louderback's arrest which would be authority to hold him.

Louderback was wounded in the left side by Sgt. Maurice Farr who said Louderback swung at him with the jack handle from a car after Farr and his partner found Louderback inside the garage of an Arcadia residence at 1:30 a.m.

Pension reform highlights

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Highlights of the pension reform bill:

Eligibility —Employes must be admitted to their company's pension plan when they reach age 25 or have one year of service. When age 25 is reached, an employe must be given up to three years credit for prior service with the company.

Breaks in service —An employe must be readmitted to his company's pension plan without loss of built-up benefits if he quits, is ill or otherwise breaks his service and later returns to the same company. If he was not yet vested, he cannot be away longer than he was originally employed by the company. For example, if an employe works four years but is not vested, then leaves for three years and returns, he still has credit for the original four years. If he is at least 50 per cent vested in a pension plan, it does not matter how long the service break.

Vesting —Three minimum vesting standards are established, any one of which companies must meet or exceed: 1. Vesting —that is, a guarantee that a pension will be paid on retirement —of 25 per cent after five years, increasing 5 per cent a year for the next five years and 10 per cent a year for the following five years until full vesting is achieved after 15 years. 2. Full vesting immediately after 10 years or 3. The "rule of 45" in which vesting of 50 per cent comes after the total of an employe's age and years of service reaches 45, increasing 10 per cent a year for the next five years.

Joint and Survivor Annuity — An employe's spouse would be entitled to at least 50 per cent of the employe's pension benefits if the employe dies after retirement. The survivor would get nothing from the pension, owever, if death comes before retirement.

Funding —Employers are required to fund their pension plans sufficiently to meet all needs.

Insurance —A new government insurance corporation is set up, financed through employer-paid premiums, to guarantee pension payments up to $750 a month if an employer defaults on his obligations.

Employe contributions — Employes have the right to withdraw the contributions they have made from their own salaries upon leaving a company, and they have the right to "buy back" any credits they may have lost if they return to the plan.

Employer contributions —Employers are allowed, but not required, to give an employe the portion of the built-up pension fund represented by employer contributions. The employe can then transfer this pension fund to a new employer or set up his own approved individual retirement account with an approved bank or insurance company.

Individual Retirement Accounts —For the first time, employes who work for a company that has no pension plan can establish their own tax-free individual retirement account, contributing up to 15 per cent of his salary to a maximum of $1,500 a year.

Self-employed — Self-employed individuals could put aside 15 per cent of income to a maximum of $7,500 for their own retirement accounts.

Management —Strict standards, with criminal penalties, would be established to prevent fraud or conflict of interest in management of pension funds.

Disclosure —Employes are entitled to a simple explanation of their pension plans, as well as access to plan documents and financial statements.

Information — Employers must report vested pension rights for each employe to the Social Security Administration which then will inform the employe of every pension benefit he may have coming when he applies for Social Security benefits.

Delos, part of a CBS crew filming the event, was in serious condition. CBS electrician Robert Oddo, Chicago, was killed. Pilot John Wallace, Warwick, R.I., was slightly hurt. The copter lost a rotor blade touching off the fatal plunge and fell into the Atlantic among scores of yachts on hand for the trials.

Washington Wrapup

Attica riot, wealth only Rocky problems

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Nelson A. Rockefeller met almost no opposition in his first day of campaigning in Congress for confirmation as vice president, but his aides say there may be problems ahead.

Rockefeller met with more than a score of senators and representatives Thursday and was told their probe, which may take as long as two months, would thoroughly investigate his background, particularly his finances.

After his tour he went to a White House dinner and then flew to his Seal Harbor, Maine, compound where he plans to stay until after Labor Day.

A Rockefeller aide said that for the most part the congressmen "were friendly and indicated the confirmation should go through with little problem."

He said, however, the former New York governor expects some opposition from conservative lawmakers and added that Rockefeller will be questioned on his handling of the bloody Attica prison riot.

Rockefeller is "not at all worried" about scrutiny of his personal finances, the aide said.

The governor said he was "keeping his fingers crossed" on the confirmation question. He said his staff will shortly turn over a complete record of his finances, including income tax returns, to the two congressional committees handling confirmation.

Rockefeller said he assured President Ford before he was nominated that there were no skeletons in his closet.

"Don't you think that's the kind of thing that should be settled before a man is named?" Rockefeller asked.

He predicted that some people would be "disappointed" when the true extent of his wealth is revealed, adding: "You've seen some pretty exciting stories and I don't know if I'll be able to live up to them."

Friends and business associates have said Rockefeller's personal fortune may be as much as $500 million, but they concede the figure is merely an estimate.

Close books on Nixon

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The case of Richard M. Nixon is closed as far as the House Judiciary Committee is concerned, with every member concluding that he should have been impeached if he had not become the first president in history to resign.

The committee's final report was released Thursday. The 525-page document with a dingy tan cover is historic. It is the result of the second impeachment inquiry ever held, the first in 107 years. It accuses Nixon of lying, violating laws and subverting the Constitution.

Senate OKs Veteran bill

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Senate Veterans Affairs Committee chairman Vance Hartke, D-Ind., is angry over House action Thursday that first killed a 23 per cent veterans education benefits bill, and then repassed it with fewer benefits.

Hartke linked the action to President Ford's threat to veto the bill if he decides the $1.8 billion cost is inflationary. The Senate passed the bill unanimously Wednesday.

Ford made the veto threat in a speech to veterans Monday and at same time said he favored leniency for Vietnam war deserters and draft dodgers.

Dissent laws loosened in Korea

SEOUL (UPI) — South Korean President Park Chunghee today abolished two of his special decrees that imposed lengthy prison terms or death sentences for political dissenters.

In a move to unify the country, Park said he was lifting a Jan. 8 decree banning attempts to amend the constitution and an April 3 order outlawing all anti-government student activities.

The decision to remove the decrees was effective this morning. However, Park said lifting the decrees would not affect those on trial or already convicted of violating the stern presidential orders.

The decrees imposed trials by courts-martial, five years to life imprisonment or death to political dissenters.

At least 172 persons, including former President Psun Yun and a number of Christian clergymen, have been convicted or are on trial under the old decrees.

Park's move came eight days after an accused assassin, [illegible] the government said was act[illegible]er instructions from North President Kim Il-sung, tried to [illegible] Park. Park was not hurt but his wife was shot to death.

Millions of South Koreans showed warm sympathy to Park and his family over the Aug. 15 death of the first lady. Park made it clear he was deeply moved by the reaction of the nation to the incident and decided to lift the two decrees.

Claiming the North Koreans have incessantly sent armed agents to South Korea since the Korean armistice was signed in 1953 in a plot to unify the country by force of arms under Communism, Park said he had to issue the decrees reluctantly in order to cope with the threats.

Court upsets suburb schools mixture plan

By United Press International

A federal appeals court has overturned a lower court ruling that schools in predominantly white suburbs of Indianapolis must accept black students as part of a metropolitan desegregation plan.

The decision by the Circuit Court of Appeals in Chicago was based in part on a recent Supreme Court ruling in a Detroit case that suburban areas could not be forced to help a city desegregate if the suburbs themselves were not guilty of segregation.

A further hearing was ordered to determine whether the 10 suburban school systems involved might be required to share in the plan.

In Boston, Mayor Kevin H. White met with School Committee members Thursday to discuss the massive problems expected when the city begins its school year under a court-ordered integration plan Sept. 12.

He canceled a scheduled meeting with President Ford in Washington to take part.

About 30,000 students —a third of the public school enrollment — are included under the first phase of the plan ordered by U.S. District Court Judge Arthur W. Garrity.

The mayor and the committee agreed that Boston School Supt. William J. Leary would be in charge of implementing all aspects of the desegregation plan.

State Rep. Raymond Flynn, D-Boston, has predicted a "massive boycott" when the plan becomes effective.

Execution bandit slays 2 for $61 in Iowa robbery

DES MOINES, Iowa (UPI) — Two persons were killed and two others were seriously wounded Thursday because an armed robber wanted to leave no witnesses to a $61 robbery.

Assistant Des Moines Police Chief Tom Teale termed the shootings "brutal execution."

Police launched a statewide manhunt for the gunman.

Authorities said the robber took $269 from the downtown Holiday Inn, on the city's near North Side, then started shooting. He fired five or six shots. Everyone in the motel lobby was hit. The gunman then scurried to his car, dropping $208 as he fled.

Killed in the shooting spree were Danny Lee Peters, 21, a security guard at the motel, and Luis Trujillo, 22, assistant night auditor and bell captain.

Ted Nolte, 28, the night auditor, was shot in the head and listed in serious condition today. A motel guest, John Paul Stewart, 23, Lincoln, Neb., was listed in fair condition with wounds to the chest and wrist.

Police said the gunman entered the motel about 2 a.m., apparently by a side entrance, and surprised Trujillo and Nolte at the main desk.

Stewart apparently was in the lobby visiting or registering for a room at the time, authorities said.

After taking the money, the gunman began shooting.

Trujillo was shot in the temple.

After the first shots rang out, Peters, the security guard, came out of the bar area near the lobby and attempted to engage the robber. He was shot in the leg and in the head before he could get a shot off, police said.

Already severely wounded, Peters went to the house phone and called the bartender, asking him to summon help.

Legion nixes Ford amnesty for dodgers

MIAMI BEACH (UPI) — The American Legion, the nation's largest veterans organization, closed its 56th annual convention Thursday with reaffirmation of its opposition to general amnesty for Vietnam conflict draft evaders.

A Legion spokesman said the organization considers its stand on amnesty similar to that outlined by President Ford in a speech this week to the Veterans of Foreign Wars in Chicago.

The Legion resolution, approved unanimously, said, "We reaffirm our opposition to general amnesty for draft evaders and military deserters and urge that each case be tried on an individual basis and each deserter be dealt with as described by codes of military justice."

When it was pointed out that the President had not mentioned trials in his call for conditional amnesty, the spokesman reiterated that the Legion considers its position similar to that of the President "as we understand it."

The 3,000 delegates representing nearly three million legionnaires also:

—elected James M. Wagonseller, 54, Lancaster, Ohio, a World War II air gunner, as its new national commander;

—sent a telegram to President Gerald Ford asking him to sign legislation raising GI bill of rights educational benefits for Vietnam veterans;

—voted down a California resolution asking that tax exemption be revoked for the U.S. Servicemen's Fund, which sponsors anti-war road shows and anti-war coffee houses near military installations. Actress Jane Fonda has been active in USSF.

Air Force chief-of-staff Gen. David Jones told the Legion at the final convention session in the Fountainebleau Hotel that the Soviet Union is developing four new intercontinental ballistic missile systems, multiple nuclear warheads for existing ICBMs, and a new intercontinental supersonic bomber and has "great momentum" in other military research.

VINCENT CIRILLI

11,500 jumps no record

JERSEY CITY, N.J. (UPI) — Vincint Cirrilli, 15, was all smiles when he completed 11,500 non stop bounces on his pogo stick for what he thought a world's record yesterday. But he was informed last night that a 10-year-old New England boy jumped 18,900 times last month.

Undaunted, Cirilli said:

"I probably could have gone a little longer."

Sees zoo but no bunnies

LOS ANGELES (UPI) — The latest girl entertained at Hugh Hefner's hillside mansion said she was very impressed — not with Hefner but with the "zoo" in his yard with "monkeys, chimpanzees and all kinds of things."

Robin Autiero, 13, of Los Angeles was chauffeur-driven to Disneyland Thursday, courtesy of Hefner, including an evening rendezvous with the Playboy publisher. "He was there," Robin said, "but I didn't get to see him. He was busy playing some kind of game or something."

Robin has been confined to a wheelchair since a shooting accident paralyzed her three years ago. Hefner arranged for the day at Disneyland after a friend in Illinois contacted him about Robin. The trip to the mansion was an unexpected bonus.

"You know, he has a zoo in his yard?" Robin said. "I couldn't believe all the animals out there. He has monkeys, chimpanzees and all kinds of things."

David does it once more

WASHINGTON (UPI) — White House butlers have until Sept. 15 to find a present left for them by David Eisenhower, former President Nixon's son-in-law — two tickets to the first Washington Redskins football game this season.

Eisenhower also said he left a message behind which he hid and expects someone to discover in time.

So far neither the tickets nor the message has been found. The first game is Sept. 15.

When his grandfather, Dwight D. Eisenhower, moved out of the White House, David, then a young boy, hid notes behind pictures which read "I shall return."

Abrams stable

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Gen. Creighton W. Abrams, the Army chief of staff, was reported resting comfortably in Walter Reed Army Medical Center, recovering from a blood clot which may have lodged near his only lung.

Abrams, the Army's topranking officer, was under intensive care Thursday. A medical bulletin said the 59-year-old general was in "serious but stable condition," meaning his life is not considered in immediate danger.

Bovine critic

COLOMBO, Sri Lanka (UPI) — A drunken farmer was kicked to death by his favorite bull because the beast couldn't stand the man's singing, the victim's wife told a coroner's court Thursday.

The widow of I.A. Albert, 45, told the court her husband returned home in a "drunken fit" one night earlier this week to their farm at Anamaduwa, in northwest Sri Lanka.

Albert tied the bull, long regarded by the man as a pet because of his fondness for the animal, to a tree and began singing a baila, a style of music faster but similar to rock.

The woman said the animal was so disturbed by Albert's performance it kicked him in the stomach. Albert died later at Colombo General Hospital.

Coroner Egerton Weerakoon returned a verdict of accidental death.

Haldeman in civil suit

CHARLOTTE, N. C. (UPI) — A darkly-tanned H. R. Haldeman smiled a lot despite hecklers but said very little during his brief visit Thursday in connection with a $1.3 million civil suit filed by protestors barred from a speech by former President Richard M. Nixon.

"On advice of counsel I've been told not to make any comment," said Haldeman just before he spent about two hours giving a deposition to George S. Daly Jr., attorney for 21 plaintiffs in the lawsuit.

Haldeman, Nixon's ex-chief of staff, was added along with two other Nixon aides as defendants in the suit after the Senate Watergate Committee investigation revealed last summer that Haldeman apparently approved security measures for Nixon's 1971 visit to Charlotte.

The plaintiffs contend they were illegally barred from the Charlotte Coliseum where Nixon spoke at a Billy Graham Day observance.

Mrs. Ford to meet press

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Betty Ford expects to hold news conferences about once a month while she is in the White House.

No first lady since Eleanor Roosevelt has been as daring.

Mrs. Ford may hold her first news conference next week, even while she is still trying to get settled in the executive mansion.

Low calibre

TEWKESBURY, England (UPI) — Mary Connors, 21, hurtled out of a cannon Thursday in an attempt to vault the River Avon.

She made it halfway.

"Not enough gunpowder," Miss Connors sputtered as she dog-paddled to a waiting rescue boat.

"I'll have another try on Sunday. I hope to make it then."

METESKY KURBEGOVIC

Takes one to know one?

WATERBURY Conn. (UPI) — New York's "Mad Bomber of the 1950s, George Metesky, said yesterday that Los Angeles' Alphabet Bomber suspect Muharem Kurbegovic is "an egoist who seems to take pride in his grandeur." Metesky, who served time for his bombing conviction, is now free. Kurbegovic was arraigned on three murder and several arson counts in Los Angeles yesterday.

President will keep in touch with Nixon

WASHINGTON (UPI) — President Ford intends to keep in touch with former President Nixon from time to time as a courtesy.

Press Secretary Jerald terHorst was asked Thursday why Ford informed Nixon that Nelson A. Rockefeller had been nominated as vice president before it was announced to the nation.

"I think from time to time he (Ford) will call him (Nixon), instead of having him read it on the ticker," terHorst said. "There is no element of consultation involved. The President thought it was a nice thing to do."

He observed that in the past Nixon had been in touch with the late President Lyndon B. Johnson on matters affecting the nation.

WASHINGTON (UPI) — President Ford has received a "very warm and personal letter" from Premier Chou EnLai of the Peoples' Republic of China.

The letter is the latest of many from world leaders that Ford has received in the two weeks since he assumed the Presidency.

Ford's press secretary, Jerry terHorst, said Thursday that Chou's letter had been received but did not disclose the contents for diplomatic reasons. "I have no details that I can give you, obviously," terHorst said.

County to get poppy reserve

SACRAMENTO (UPI) — The Senate recently passed legislation clearing the way for a California poppy reserve in Los Angeles County.

The measure (AB1413) by Assemblyman Newton R. Russell, R-Tujunga, appropriates $15,000 for a Department of Parks and Recreation development study. The results and recommendations of the study are to be reported back to the legislature by Jan. 1, 1975.

Rocky says he'll foot bill for security improvements

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Nelson A. Rockefeller says he will foot the bill for some of the security improvements at his Washington home.

Rockefeller met Thursday with Rep. Jack Brooks, D-Tex., chairman of the government services subcommittee which investigated the public funds spent on the private residences of former President Nixon and former Vice President Spiro T. Agnew.

"You know, the Secret Service told me I needed security lights behind the house," Rockefeller said. "I told them you order them and send me the bill."

Brooks told Rockefeller:

"I always said it would be nice if we had a president or vice president who had enough homes and we didn't have to fix them up. I think you have enough homes."

Rockefeller told Brooks he was moving into the newly designated vice president's mansion on the grounds of the U.S. Naval Observatory and not the house he owns here.

"I know that," Brooks replied. "I think the nation needs a mansion so that vice presidents can live and entertain in the manner to which you've long been accustomed."

Bomb ruse backfires on officer

HAYWARD, Calif. (UPI) A reserve policeman has been charged with planting a bomb in the police station and then reporting it in an attempt to better his chances of becoming a regular officer.

Municipal Court Judge Robert Byers has set $3500 bail for Robert Woolum, 26.

Officers said Woolum went into a bathroom in the station Sunday night and said he found a bomb but defused it. Police said a nine-inch pipe bomb was found in the bathroom.

Police Lt. Peter Quevedo said Woolum admitted under questioning that he planted the bomb because he thought it would help him when the police examinations are held Saturday.

Man returns police fire with blanks

S. BERNARDINO (UPI) — A man who barricaded himself in his home for nearly one hour recently had only blanks in his gun, police reported today.

Officers said Albion Hamaltan, 56, had locked himself inside the house when police came to investigate a report that Hamaltan was carrying a shotgun through the neighborhood.

Police exchanged gunfire with Hamaltan and shot teargas into the home. Hamaltan surrendered and was taken to San Bernardino County Hospital for a mental examination.

Rattles & straws

Disaster films are a disaster

By JOSEPH FIRMAN

Future historians, if there are any, will look upon the present decade as the Era of Contradiction. At a time when disaster looms on every hand, we are rushing in lemming-like hordes to the most horrific movies since "Potemkin," the latest red-hot brain-wave of Hollywood genius, the Disaster Movie.

This Cassandra-like reversion is contrary to past social behavior of the subculture known as 20th Century America. During the Great Depression of the '30s, million of Americans went without lunch to have enough buy a ticket to "Footlight Parade," with Dick Powell and Ruby Keeler, and the latest Fred Astaire-Ginger Rogers film. In World War II lines formed for any movie starring Rita Hayworth or Betty Grable.

Today we are living in a period that combines some of the worst elements of both those man-made calamities, but instead of turning to romantic, escapist celluloid surcease, we are embracing films of smouldering catastrophe like a samurai committing hari-kari.

The disaster cycle was triggered by "The Poseidon Adventure," when the great ship went down with a complement of high-salaried stars. It was no box-office disaster. The film grossed $141 million and returned a neat $72 million profit to 20th Century-Fox. The inevitable sequel is already before the cameras — the survivors of the good ship Poseidon are caught in a train wreck in the world's longest mountain tunnel on their way back home, presumably still dripping from their maritime misadventure.

(Movie-makers, by the by, avoid the word "disaster," the traditional label for a show that bombed at the box office. They prefer "crisis films." Makes me think of the slogan of the old Miracle Movie Corp.: "If it's a good picture, it's a Miracle!")

Hot on the heels of "Poseidon" came "Airport," and right behind "Airport" is "Airport 1975," more skyborne catastrophe out of Universal by Charleton Heston.

Altogether, seven disaster films will be released before Christmas. Joy to the world. And six more are in the planning stage, in case the nerves of Movie-Going America ever quit twanging.

Universal has just completed "Earthquake" (Los Angeles faw down an' go boom!) with Ava Gardner and the indestructible Heston, who has more lives than a cat. The studio is also planning to blow up the Hindenburg again in a picture of the same name with George C. Scott. Paramount is on a plague kick, readying "Phase IV," the saga of the marching ants, and "The Haephestus Plague," in which an earthquake disgorges millions of giant cockroaches from the bowels of the earth.

Then there's Columbia with "Chosen Survivors," in which the few Last People on Earth get a choice between hordes of vampire bats and nuclear fallout; and "Snowbound," a study of avalanche survival. Calamity champ 20th Century-Fox is weighing in with "Towering Inferno," (a 136-story glass skyscraper containing, among others, Steve McQueen, Paul Newman and Fred Astaire, explodes in flames); "The Swarm" (billions of deadly bees attack New York City); and "The Day the World Ended," the true story of a volcanic eruption of Martinique in 1902.

O brave new world that has such movies in't!

4 triangular rafts save swimming cat

By DR. FRANK MILLER

DEAR DR. MILLER: The first time our cat, Flounce, jumped or fell into the swimming pool, she almost drowned. She couldn't get a foothold on the pool edge to get out again. It was lucky for her that my daughter was home, and hauled her out. The next time, she was by herself, but we were ready. We had fixed four triangular little rafts, one in each corner of the pool, that she could easily climb onto, and from there get out of the pool. Several times since, we've come home and found her soaking wet and know she's been swimming again. It's nice to know she can get out once she's in. I think other pool owners should consider these little rafts which can save an animal's life. — M. P.

Dear M. P.: Certainly some form of clamber-out arrangement for a pool potentially accessible to pets is an excellent idea. The four corner arrangement (or equivalent should the pool be cornerless) is excellent too, as often the floundering feline (or other pet trying to escape the pool) wouldn't find the way out if only one escape route were available.

DEAR DR. MILLER: Could you please list for me the airlines which would allow me to take Lady, my springer spaniel, in the cabin with me? I understand that some airlines will allow dogs in the cabin, and some do not. — G. N.

Dear G. N.: True. About one out of three airlines will allow pets to accompany the owner in the cabin instead of traveling in the baggage compartment. Unfortunately, however, those that do, specify small household pets, and they have to be small enough to fit within a pet carrier which then must slide under the passenger seat. As far as Lady is concerned, I'm sorry but there's just no way she would fit.

DEAR DR. MILLER: My son insists on making a pet of any living thing, which I've gone along with until his current kick on pet flies. I know flies can carry filth and disease like dysentery, but he's not impressed. Can you name something else that might impress him? — L. B.

Dear L. B.: You're right, flies should be resisted as pets. They not only carry disease like bacterial dysentery but others in the same category including amebiasis, hydatidosos, and cholera. Other diseases transmitted by flies range from plague and poliomyelitis to anthrax, brucelosis, tularemia, and coxsackie infection.

"Whoever made that old crack about 'women's work is never done' didn't know Mom, did he?"

Will disclose amount before confirmation

Rockefeller worth $500 million?

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Vice presidential nominee Nelson A. Rockefeller's personal fortune —which he said he will disclose to congressional committees handling his confirmation — may total a half billion dollars, according to family friends and business associates.

They said the $500 million was "only an estimate" and one added, "he probably doesn't even know himself what he's worth. Only his accountant knows for sure."

Rockefeller's wealth is concentrated in three areas — stock, land and art, and his holdings in the last two categories carry the label of "priceless."

Like most wealthy families, the Rockefellers have kept the extent of their empire a closely guarded secret. Much of Rockefeller's wealth is in trusts for himself and his heirs.

The value of his extensive stock holdings is believed to have declined considerably in the past two years because of poor market conditions.

Rockefeller told the chairmen of the two committees handling his confirmation this week that he would give them whatever financial data they requested. Sen. Howard W. Cannon, chairman of the Senate Rules Committee, said he would request Rockefeller's income tax returns and complete financial records.

One of the few known facts about Rockefeller's fortune is that he paid an income tax "in seven figures' the years he was governor of New York. In 1964 it was estimated he had a yearly income of around $5 million, with his weekly income from stock dividends exceeding his $50,000 annual salary as governor.

In 1964, Ferdinand Lundberg estimated Rockefeller's fortune at $500 million in his book "The Rich and the Superrich."

"That was probably a little high at the time, but I'd say right now that would be a good ballpark figure," said a Rockefeller friend from New York who asked not to be identified.

"When you talk about all that land, and the modern art which has just gone up and up in value every year, it's hard to put a price tag on it,' a family friend said.

Moreover it's difficult to assess Nelson Rockefeller's fortune because it is so intertwined with the family empire, which itself is a maze.

For instance, the Rockefellers a few years ago sold their resorts in Puerto Rico to Eastern Airlines. The major stockholder in Eastern Airlines is Chase Manhattan Bank. The Rockefellers are major stockholders in Chase Manhattan, and David Rockefeller is its president.

In attempting to trace the extent of Nelson Rockefeller's fortune these holdings are known:

—Major land holdings include a 32-room apartment on Fifth Avenue in New York City, a 1,235-acre ranch — "Monte Sacro" —southwest of Caracas, a home at the family 4,180-acre estate at Pocantico Hills, N.Y., overlooking the Hudson River, a similar residence at the family compound at Seal Harbor, Maine, a mansion on Foxhall Road in Washington and a "cottage" at Canel Bay in the Virgin Island where the family owns a posh resort.

—Rockefeller has probably the richest personally owned collection of modern art in the world. His homes, particularly the New York apartment, have been turned into galleries for the art. His collection totals nearly 2,000 pieces, and he has given away many more, including nearly all 350 works in New York's Museum of Primitive Art.

—Extensive stock holdings about which very little is revealed on the public record. Foremost of the stock holdings is thought to be Exxon. In 1974 he owned 419,000 shares in International Basic Economy (IBEC), a company set up by the family to run a variety of businesses, including South America's largest supermarket group. His wife then owned 12,255 shares and a trust for his younger children owned 109,393 shares.

Women are too fierce

Women are too fierce to be good combat soliders. Or such be the quoted contention of the renowned Margaret Mead. The males of just about every species fight in a ritualistic manner. True, beta fish, game cocks and gray wolves fight to the death. But most males don't. Females, however, do. Battle is not just a trial of strength with them. Their ferocity in defense is well known, and on offense, they kill. Notion put forth here is that women combat troops might be more inclined than men to press for massacres.

Q—"WHO invented cellophane?"

A—One Jacques Edwin Bradenberger. In 1908. He was trying to make a tablecloth that wouldn't stain, but got all mixed up.

THE HARD FACTS

Call them tusks if you like, but they're really the eyeteeth of the walrus. . .ONE OUT of every 100 medical prescriptions is said to be for some sort of laxative. . .NINETY FIVE out of every 100 big game animals in this country are some sort of deer . . . DO YOU REALIZE that every other household around here has an electric sewing machine?. . .ORIGINAL definition of the word "mammoth" was "underground dweller."

CLIENT ASKS the name of this country's first lady dipomat. That would be Ruth Bryan Owen, U. S. Minister to Denmark from 1933 to 1936. Those were the happiest years of her life, she said later. She quit to marry Borge Rohde, a captain in the Danish king's palace guards. A most romantic incident.

HAPPINESS

What brings happiness? A recent poll to answer that one came up with some debatable notions, I think. Money was named No. 1 by a wide margin. Good health came in No. 2 far behind. No. 3 was love. No. 4, wisdom. No. 5, family raising.

A BARBER, dentist and foot doctor all in one was that practitioner of the first century. This is to say the same specialist took care of hair, teeth and corns. And there's no record that said party washed hands between patients, might mention.

WHAT THE ANIMAL experts are trying to figure out now is why that beast known as the sloth can't be startled by a loud noise. Just about every other animal can be scared into twitching, jerking, jumping. But no, not the sloth. Peculiar lack of reflex. Tap its knee with a rubber hammer and what do you get? Nothing.

State GOP, Demos cross swords over effect of Ford succession

By CARL INGRAM

SACRAMENTO (UPI) — The resignation of Richard M. Nixon and the succession of President Ford sparked new fire in the gubernatorial campaign of Republican Houston Flournoy but Democrats insist they still command the upper hand.

"Nixon being gone is a load off the Republicans' back, but they still have the problem of the economy," said Rep. John Burton of San Francisco, California Democratic chairman.

However, Republican state chairman Gordon Luce voiced confidence that Watergate and Nixon's role in it is "not an issue anymore" in California election campaigns, including Flournoy's.

"Candidates like Hugh Flournoy were somewhat on the defensive and unfairly so," Luce said. "That is defused. Now, it gives him an opportunity to be on the offensive."

Try as they did to turn it away, Republican campaigns in California were dogged by the Watergate-Nixon issue. Candidates kept insisting it was "not legitimate" as an issue.

Flournoy, who had called for Nixon's resignation, said since departure of the native son President from the White House and the installation of Ford, "There has been quite a different mood among the people generally."

"There is a relief, a new confidence in the system and leadership," he said. "Things are picking up and will be continual."

In the wake of the President's resignation, Flournoy reported, a major Republican campaign contributor who had been sitting on the sidelines came forward and agreed to help in fundraising.

"I don't think he is atypical," Flournoy said of the contributor.

Luce said Ford's assumption of the presidency instilled a "new spirit and enthusiasm" in Flournoy's campaign and in those of Republican congressional and legislative candidates.

"I think President Ford is taking the bull by the horns in Washington and is giving us a shot in the arm here in California," Luce said.

But Democratic gubernatorial nominee Edmund Brown Jr., said he didn't believe the resignation of Nixon and the succession of Ford would have a "significant" impact on California voters.

He said the gubernatorial election would come down to two "basic" issues: "The character and record of the two individuals involved, and the belief that people have in what each party can do for them."

"Watergate and all that goes under that name has not been extinguished from the public's mind," Brown said. "It is a burden that Republican candidates will carry into the elections whether anybody says anything about it or not."

Burton, Brown and other Democrats had been hitting hard for for months at impeachment and removal from office of Nixon.

Burton said he didn't consider Watergate-Nixon as the "overriding" issue. He said the big issues were high inflation, rising unemployment and the sagging economy.

"Those issues still remain," Burton said. "Nixon being gone is a load off the Republicans' backs, but they still have the problem of the economy. I don't see any of Ford's programs bailing us out of this tremendous mess."

"The whole atmosphere was overwhelmed by the Watergate thing," Flournoy said. "Now it appears that episode is done, a big part of it at least, and we can get on to dealing with things here."

Outline inflation summit meeting

WASHINGTON (UPI) — House speaker Carl Albert named Reps. John McFall, DCalif., and Barber Conable, R-N.Y., to represent the House on the steering committee that will plan President Ford's summit conference on inflation.

The committee, composed of four top government economists and two members each from the House and Senate, meet at the White House Thursday to begin preparations for the conference

30 lifeguards

45 state employes may be fired for long hair

SACRAMENTO (UPI) — The state Parks and Recreation Department plans to fire 45 lifeguards and other employes at a beach and state park in Orange County for wearing their hair too long, according to a state employes group.

The California State Employes Association Wednesday said the department has notified about 30 lifeguards and 15 maintenance men at Huntington State Beach and nearby Bolsa Chica State Park that they would be dismissed immediately if they did not comply with the agency's hair length standards.

But CSEA also said its employe representative, Dennis Hardaker, Wednesday convinced department officials to reconsider the standards' validity and delay the firings until Monday when their final decisions on the standards will be made.

The standards require that employes must have "neatly combed hair above the shirt collar and not extending over the edge of the ear and three quarters of an inch above the eyebrow," CSEA said.

Hardaker told department officials that the hair standards were discriminatory because strict enforcement is not carried out at other state parks and because they were applied only to male and not female lifeguards.

CSEA said it was told by department officials that Parks and Recreation Director William Penn Mott will make a final decision on the standards Monday.

Rockefeller.....

The family fortune began with John D. Rockefeller, Nelson's grandfather, who by the turn of the century controlled 95 per cent of the nations oil refinery business. By the time the grandfather died in 1937, at the age of 97, he had given away $530 million, but left a considerable estate to John D. Jr. He in turn left $100 million trust funds to each of his five sons and a daughter, and this is the basis of Nelson Rockefeller's fortune.

The present generation of Rockefellers and their offspring have extended the empire throughout the world. John D. III has carried on the philanthropic end of the family enterprises, heading the Rockefeller Foundation. David is the banker and head of the business affairs for the family. Laurence is a conservationist and runs family resorts in the Carribean, Wyoming, and on Hawaii, where his $30 million holdings include the 310-room Mauna Kea hotel and 500 acres of land.

The fifth brother, the late Winthrop Rockefeller, was governor of Arkansas and was also a farmer.

As one of the world's richest men, the only money Nelson Rockefeller carries in his pocket is the good luck silver dollar his grandfather gave him.

At ritual trips to the New York State Fair while he was governor, Rockefeller always had to borrow money from a newsman or his state police bodyguard to buy a hotdog.

Briefs in the news

Forced to seek wage hikes--Meany

CHICAGO (UPI) — AFL-CIO President George Meany said that labor unions had no recourse but to seek wage increases and cost-of-living escalator clauses in contracts so that members can meet the rising costs of living.

Addressing a carpenters' convention here, Meany assailed the Nixon administration for its economic policies and said that "there is an immediate need in this industry and in this country for mortgage loans," to revive the housing industry.

Ethiopian military okays civilian rule

ADDIS ABABA (UPI) — The Ethiopian Army and Prime Minister Michael Imru have reached a compromise for continued civilian rule in the African empire, at least for the time being.

They also agreed recently to work together to end the turmoil which has plagued the country for months, diplomatic sources said.

The breakthrough came as the powerful Orthodox Church forced a major confrontation between military leaders and the church with Emperor Haile Selassie's dwindling vestiges of power at stake.

Parrot performs

TACOMA, Wash. (UPI) — "Patrick," the opera singing parrot, is back home performing his favorite arias after three nights of entertaining his neighbors from treetops.

"Patrick," who picked up his operatic talent by listening to tte radio, escaped from his screened backyard late last week.

His owners, Mr. and Ors. Ralph L. Ingle, called firemen in an effort to get him out of the trees. The firemen failed. They called a utility company crew. It failed. They called two professional high climbers. They failed.

Mrs. Ingle, as a last resort, was lifted in a utility company line-repair bucket to within 10 feet of "Patrick."

Poison nearly gets into water system

YUMA, Ariz. (UPI) — Deadly poison almost made its way into the city's water supply, but was detected when it killed thousands of fish upstream from the city water treatment plant.

A strict water conservation program was in force now as pressure dropped, because storage tanks were drained and the water treated again as a precautionary measure. Quantities of poison were detected in some storage tanks before draining. Stores sold out bottled water supplies within hours as the pressure began dropping Monday.

Two insecticides, Parathion and Thiodan, that are fatal to humans were detected in the Yuma Main Canal Sunday, officials said.

"This could have been a very bad disaster if we had not been notified," said City Administrator James Clevenger.

Meier motion out

RENO, Nev. (UPI) — A federal judge recently rejected a motion by John Meier, former adviser to billionaire Howard Hughes, to have income tax charges thrown out of court.

The Internal Revenue Service said Meier conspired to avoid payment of $1.7 million in income taxes during 1969 and 1970 on profits from the sale of Nevada mining claims to the Hughes Tool Co.

Meier and three others were indicted for the alleged sales of $8 million in mining property to Hughes Tool and then diverting $4.8 million from the sales to foreign corporations.

Morse replaced

BAKER, Ore. (UPI) — Betty Roberts of Portland, a state senator, is the new Democratic nominee for the U.S. Senate. She was chosen recently to replace the late former Sen. Wayne Morse, who died July 22. Morse won the Democratic nomination in the May primary.

Sen. Roberts, 51, will now oppose Republican Sen. Bob Packwood, who ousted Morse in 1968. She was chosen by the State Central Committee on the fourth ballot.

State population 20.93 million

SACRAMENTO (UPI) — California's population climbed to 20.93 million on July 1, a 203,000 increase from mid-1973, according to state estimates.

The state Finance Department's population research unit recently said the 1 per cent increase from the 20.73 million estimated for July 1, 1973 was approximately the same size percentage jump as recorded for the two previous years in the nation's most populous state.

The department said net civilian migration during the one-year period ending July was 101,000, compared to 96,000 the previous year. It said a "considerable part of the migration" came from abroad.

excess of births over deaths—continued the decline which started in 1971, the department said. It said the natural increase totaled 117,000 during the 1973-74 fiscal year, compared to 131,000 the previous year.

The department said Orange County had the biggest population increase among the 58 counties followed by San Diego and Santa Clara Counties.

Only four counties, including San Francisco and Los Angeles, showed population declines in fiscal 1973-74. Los Angeles has registered declines since 1970 and San Francisco since 1968.

Los Angeles continued to be the most populous county with 6.96 million residents followed by Orange, 1.65 million, and San Diego, 1.5 million.

WORLD ALMANAC FACTS

Oil globules and plastic debris in massive proportions infest nearly 700,000 square miles of ocean from Cape Cod to the Caribbean Sea, an area which is the habitat of uncountable game fish, according to National Oceanic and Atmospheric Administration tests. More than half of the plankton collected from surface waters during the tests was oil-contaminated, The World Almanac notes.

Allowing for it paid off

By Oswald & James Jacoby

We are not sure whether Watson's four-diamond call or Holmes' bid of five diamonds was the overbid that got the great detective to a bad contract. But in any event he was there.

In such situations, the first thing to do is to give the cards a chance to help you and Holmes did exactly that.

He carefully ruffed the third heart with the 10 of trumps. Then he led the ace of trumps and continued by leading the queen and overtaking with dummy's king.

Trumps had broken 2-1 and the cards were doing their stuff for him.

His next play was a spade. He double finessed with his 10, re-entered dummy by overtaking his five of trumps with the six, finessed his queen of spades, entered dummy once more with the four of trumps, discarded his small club on the spade that had set up and scored game and rubber.

All he had needed was a 2-1 trump break; both spade honors in the East hand and a break in that key suit. Not much to expect, but Holmes had taken care to allow for it and had been paid off.

Police to use model plane on snipers

BIRMINGHAM, Ala. (UPI) — Sheriff Mel Bailey said that his department has purchased a model plane with a six-foot wing span which can carry and eject a hand grenade or a smoke bomb for use against snipers taking cover atop tall buildings.

Bailey said in extreme cases the remote-controlled plane could carry an explosive charge to demolish doors behind which criminals might be hiding."

He said the $300 plane can fly at a speed of 60 miles per hour and "under the guidance of an experienced controller (the plane) would be difficult to shoot down from the air.

"It's a simple project," he said, "and I'm surprised someone hasn't thought of it."

Police disarm bomb, arrest 2

BERKELEY (UPI) — Police arrested two men and disarmed a bomb found in a car that was stopped in a routine traffic check Tuesday night near the University of California campus.

University police said the bomb "was a fused device with explosive powder."

Arrested were Douglas S. Parker, 22, San Leandro, and Eugene Moore, 19, Alameda.

Both were booked for possession of an explosive device. Parker was also booked for drunken driving.

ACTION LINE

To ask help in solving problems with which you have been unsuccessful, write to Action Line, The Progress-Bulletin, P. O. Box 2708, Pomona, Calif. 91766. Sign your full name, address and phone number and include copies (not the original) of receipts or other documentation possible. If your letter is published, only your initials will be used.

Attorney General suing Market Development Corp.

I sent to Market Development Corp. in Cincinnati for a sewing machine more than two months ago.

The corporation offered three payment plans. I paid the full amount, $79.50, when I placed the order.

I never did get the sewing machine but my check was cashed.

A month ago I sent a "mailgram" pointing out that the company took my money but didn't send the machine.

Neither this "mailgram," a second one nor a letter brought a response.

I then wrote to the Chamber of Commerce in Cincinnati. The chamber didn't answer either. —Mrs. D. B., Pomona.

Would you please send me the address for Market Development Corp.?

I can't find the one I had. I'm a foolish old lady who sent in a check the early part of June for a "treasure chest."

Up to that time the corporation didn't pay any attention to the injunction. —E. F., Ontario.

Mrs. D. B., your letter was our first information that Market Development Corp. purported to handle sewing machines.

We could have told you that the firm has been zigging and zagging for months.

Market Development Corp. is the outfit being sued by the Office of the Attorney General of California for a phony vacation-treasure chest offer and for violation of an injunction.

Probably as a result of the second suit, the corporation has begun refusing mail.

Complaint letters should be sent directly to the Office of the Attorney General, Public Correspondence Unit, 555 Capitol Mall, Sacramento, 95814.

All consumer complaints and documents will be retained by the office as evidence in support of the request to the court that the company be compelled to make refunds.

If the court orders refunds and the company has funds to make them, you will be notified by either the company or the attorney general's office.

On Father's Day my sons presented me with a Regency aircraft scanner receiver purchased from Brackett Aircraft Radio Service in La Verne.

This is a $150 radio. Frequencies to be scanned are crystal controlled. This necessitates ordering the crystals from a separate supplier by means of pre-paid order cards at $6.50 each.

The boys were assured the crystals could be obtained in about 10 days.

On June 18 three order cards were sent to the supplier, Shepherd Industries, Inc., in Kansas.

On June 29 I sent five more order cards. On July 9 I wrote a follow-up letter.

I have had no response of any kind. Meanwhile the little lights are scanning feverishly but for lack of crystals cannot detect a sound. —W. S., Chino.

We wrote to Shepherd Industries. You wrote to the Regency company, which made the receiver.

You also contacted Brackett Air Radio Service and report that Brackett "was most helpful and made inquiries through a Burbank distributor."

You received your crystals and credit the achievement to a team effort.

On the front page of the Progress-Bulletin recently, an article headed "Phone bills up dollar a month" included a paragraph dealing with Lifeline service.

I wanted to change to that service. I called the phone company and was informed it didn't have the service. How come? —H. M., Montclair.

The article was about Pacific Telephone Co. You are served by General Telephone Co.

Lifeline is described by the California Public Utilities Commission as a "highly subsidized service for the elderly and poor."

Raising the rate for this service from $2.25 to $2.50 a month, the PUC ordered that it not be given to any household in which the combined income is more than $7,500.

The service allows a maximum of 30 outgoing calls a month.

General Telephone Co. has plans for a similar service described as "metered residential telephone service." Because of equipment modifications, the service won't be offered until 1975.

Residents pedaling, walking more

Life goes on without RTD buses

By BOB NAGEY
P-B Staff Writer

Residents of the valley apparently have learned to do without public buses, at least for the time being.

They are riding more bicycles, doing more walking and sharing more automobile rides as they wait for the end of a strike against the Southern California Rapid Transit System which shut down the buses Aug. 12.

Talks resumed once more Thursday between the RTD and the district's 3,700 bus drivers and mechanics. But representatives of the district and the two unions said hopes for an early settlement were dim because the parties were too far apart.

The United Transportation Union which represents the drivers, and the Amalgamated Transit Union of the mechanics, have asked for up to a 46 per cent increase for the next two years in pay and fringe benefits. The RTD offered them 7½ per cent over each of the next two years.

The RTD runs buses not only throughout Los Angeles, San Bernardino, Riverside and Orange counties, it also provides intercity service in the Pomona area, and intracity runs within Pomona.

In light of the loss of such intensive service in the valley, one could easily assume that those who have come to depend on the 25-cent bus rides here are stranded. But that does not seem to be the case.

Even the so-called poverty level riders seem to have found other ways to get around.

The local offices of the Los Angeles County Department of Social Welfare notes no significant change in the number of dependent persons showing up for their interviews or filing application for welfare.

"People just keep coming the same as before," an intake official said. "They must be sharing rides or walking, but they show up."

They certainly are not taking taxicabs, according to Gene Stalians, operator of the Yellow Cab Co. here. Stalians reports that if anything, his business has dropped since the strike began.

"While the buses were running, we used to take some people to and from Pomona bus depot," he explained. "Without the buses, that part of our business is gone."

Nor is the loss of the buses hurting business in the valley.

Representatives of both the Central Business District and Pomona Valley Center said no noticeable effect in the volume of traffic has been reported to them.

They conceded that without the buses shoppers might skip a visit here and there, but they said that mostly the volume was steady.

"I don't know how people get around, but they do," a merchant said. "I see a lot of bicycles downtown, a few more people walking. But business is no worse now than before. In fact, it seems to be picking up with back to school days approaching."

Actually, each day the bus strike continued, the RTD was making a profit, since tax dollars were rolling into the district regardless of the strike, and the RTD was operating with skeleton crews.

What district officials were just as concerned about was the side effects of the strike.

They pointed out that the RTD was about to ask the voters to approve a one-cent boost in the sales tax throughout the county for the expansion of the present system, and the establishment of a 240-mile new rapid transit network.

They said they were concerned that people who were just getting used to riding the buses would turn to their cars again, and would be so disillusioned that they would reject the proposal in November.

Edison customers get shock on current bills

Many electric power customers are puzzled and frustrated because their bills are rising sharply even though they may be using less electricity than they did a year ago, according to Southern California Edison Co. officials.

Some customers, they say, are even more upset about their bills when they hear some power companies, like Southern California Edison, are reporting increased earnings compared with last year.

"They overlook the fact," said V. F. Martin, Edison district manager, "that the rate of return, even though somewhat improved, is still below that authorized as adequate by regulators to assure long-range service.

"It's hard for many people to understand these apparent paradoxes. But there are valid reasons for such seeming economic contradictions to be occurring all at the same time."

Edison has made a tough, company-wide effort to reduce its operating and construction costs, Martin explained. As a result, it has cut $500 million from its five-year $3.8-billion construction budget, and reduced its 1974 operating expense budget by $20 million.

Edison's earnings were helped the first half of the year by extraordinary availability of low-cost hydroelectric power and greater-than-expected availability of relatively low-cost natural gas, Martin said.

"This helped reduce the use of high cost, low-sulfur fuel oil, for which the price has been rising all year," added Martin.

At the same time, there was a nationwide plea for everyone to cut back on power usage in order to save fuel. Most everyone did, and customers expected their bills would reflect their frugality, said Martin.

"Instead, soaring costs for fuel have resulted in many customers paying more for less power than they used a year ago.

"Electricity, considering its uses and availability, still is the biggest bargain since the candle, but we are all so used to getting power at such low rates that recent price increases have been a shock," said Martin.

U.S. inflation is enemy No. 1

President Gerald Ford's citing inflation as public enemy number one certainly coincides with the view of the vast majority of people.

What to do about inflation has baffled economists, governments, presidents, prime ministers and the rest for ages. If President Ford can cure inflation in the United States the achievement will stand with that of former President Richard Nixon in the field of foreign affairs.

Ford observed, "The American wage earner and the American housewife are a lot better economists than most economists care to admit. They know that a government big enough to give you everything you want is a government big enough to take from you everything you have. If we want to restore confidence in ourselves as working politicians, the first thing we all have to do is learn to say 'No'."

The President added, "It does no good to blame the public for spending too much when the government is spending too much."

In these words the President highlights the basic problem.

No housewife, no businessman, no wage-earner can create money.

A family or a business — any person — have just what is received in income. That money can be spent. It can't be outspent by much. Certainly people can extend their resources through the use of credit. Over-extension leads to a crack down, to repossession, to remodelling a financial structure to live within income.

Not so with government. Government can take away whatever portion it sets out to take from any or all categories of taxpayers. Then the government can spend more than it has taken in, no matter how it affects the national economy. It does this by "borrowing" or printing money. It is devaluing the monetary system. What was once a dollar suddenly is 25 cents.

It is this kind of mess President Ford has inherited. It is this kind of mess that concerns more Americans than all the other national problems put together. Solving the problem without horrendous unemployment is the trick which has been eluding the so-called experts.

Ford makes it clear that his initial priority is going to be reducing federal expenditures. He states he intends to work with Congress to balance the federal budget and keep it balanced. That certainly will be an enormous plus.

As an aside, it is time the cities, states and counties of this nation got their grubby hands out of the federal till and slowed down their rate of expenditure, too.

Without doubt virtually every person in the Nation will join in wishing the president success in taking public enemy number one, inflation, out of existence.

A touch of class

Happily bits of news pops up from time to time which prove that the world is sane, there are people with a sense of perspective, and everyone isn't waiting for Big Brother to tell them when to trot.

Some days back, according to news reports, such an event occurred in Washington, D.C. At about 6 A.M. a truck came to a stop at the Reflecting Pool, a magnificent area between the Washington Monument and the Lincoln Memorial. The truck proceeded to unload chairs, tables, candelabra, china, linen and all the things necessary for a memorable party.

Then out came the food: strawberries, sliced smoked Nova Scotia salmon, oysters on the half shell, Beluga Caviar, Taittinger Brut champagne, crepes of cream chicken au gratin, pastry.

It was a formal surprise birthday breakfast with the men attired in morning suits and the women in long dresses. The guest of honor was a young lady named Janet Harley who was about to turn 28. She worked for HEW and her friends set up the party. It is only the latest in a series of innovative and lovely affairs the group has put on for its members — all because they like to celebrate birthdays!

Senseless crudity

The Richard Nixons have gone through their period of agonizing, but the pain probably always will remain.

Almost immediately after the Nixon's return to California on the former President's resignation, Mrs. Nixon's childhood home was fire bombed. The house is owned by the city of Cerritos and it and the some four plus acres around it were dedicated as a children's park five years ago.

Firemen said the blaze, which caused some $2,000 in damage, was started by "incendiary liquid, possibly contained in a Molotov cocktail."

It is an action which obviously fits the perpetrator. Crude, meaningless, and destructive of the effects of others. Hopefully the brilliant person who dreamed up the act will brag about it.

Usurping control of public schools

Governor Reagan has less than five months to serve as governor of our state and I personally want to commend him for a job well done, particularly in the area of fiscal responsibility. The larger the state budget, the larger the amount each taxpayer has to contribute to make up the total aggregate amount needed to run California.

Last October an insidious piece of legislation reached Gov. Reagan's desk. This bill, SB 4000 authored by Sen George Moscone, D-San Frncisco, would have mandated all public school teachers to join a union as a condition of employment. Thankfully Governor Reagan vetoed this bill which had passed all the necessary committees and the full Assembly and Senate in Sacramento.

In the eventuality this legislation had become law, within about two years after passage, it is safe to assume, each property owner's tax bill would have doubled to accommodate the dollar and cents demands of the teachers' union leaders.

A similar but initially weaker bill will undoubtedly reach the Governor's desk by August 26. It is SB 1357, Rodda, D-Sacramento, which would force each of the 1,150 school districts in California to have only one teacher organization as the sole bargaining agent to negotiate for wages and fringe benefits, etc. with the local Board of Education.

This legislation would open the door to binding arbitration, agency shop (each teacher would be forced to pay a representation fee of approximately $125 a year) as well as legalizing strikes by teachers. All this would usurp the rights of the people to control their school districts through their duly elected school board members.

Hopefully our fiscally responsible Governor will veto again, but the best insurance for such a stance is to wire Governor Reagan immediately to please veto SB 1857 as well as to thank him for past good judgment in our behalf. —Betty Cordoba, Professional Educators of Los Angeles.

JACK ANDERSON AND LES WHITTEN

Hill was ready for Rocky probe

WASHINGTON — Even before President Ford revealed his choice of Nelson Rockefeller as Vice President, the House and Senate had put the constitutional machinery in motion for his confirmation.

A half-hour before the dramatic oval office announcement, Sen. Howard Cannon, D-Nev., whose Senate Rules Committee skillfully handled Ford's own vice presidential hearings, was called by White House aide Tom Korciogos and told Rockefeller was the one.

Within minutes, Cannon's aides were drafting a letter to the Library of Congress requesting information on Rockefeller. The Rules chairman also began drawing up a list of how many General Accounting Office and Senate sleuths he would have to borrow for the investigation.

Even with this help and massive FBI assistance, Cannon expects it will still take weeks to look into Rockefeller's complicated financial interests in the United States and abroad. Ironically, Cannon had just wound up work on the unneeded procedures for an impeachment trial and now he must devote almost full time to the Rockefeller nomination.

"It's going to be a lot more pleasant than a trial would have been," Cannon's administrative assistant, Chet Sobsey, told us. "But it's not going to be much less work."

In the House, Judiciary Chairman Peter Rodino, D-N.J., laid aside his own clean-up work on impeachment to set up a meeting last week between his staff and top Library of Congress aides. With the selection still unknown, the two sides worked out a channel for getting a steady flow of data on Rockefeller to the committee.

Only 10 minutes after the announcement, the Library of Congress called Rodino's staff to advise them the flow of Rockefeller data would begin that afternoon. It will come in on a daily basis until the investigation is complete.

Rodino's men also met before the announcement with GAO officials to arrange to borrow accountants. The GAO is an arm of Congress, while the FBI, which contacted more than 1,000 people on Ford and compiled finished note totalling 1,400 pages, works under the Executive branch.

OPTIONAL SAFETY: A house-passed prohibition on the new seat belts that must be hitched before the car will start could cost 85,000 lives and 5.4 million injuries in the next decade, according to a House Commerce staff memo.

The ban, sponsored by Rep. Louis Wyman, R-N.H., was passed by a panicky House because of voter complaints about the "interlock" seat belts in all 1974 models. Wyman's legislation also would make air bags scheduled for 1977 models optional instead of mandatory.

In bitter opposition to the Wyman measures, the House Commerce staff memo predicts an average of 8,500 lives now being saved each year by the "interlocks" would be lost. Wyman's air bag bill could kill 13,000 a year.

The air bag measure would also knock out the proposed 30 per cent decrease in some insurance policies, according to the staff document, and it would drive up the cost of air bags for those who do choose the safety device.

In defending "interlocks," the staff report says "lap and shoulder belt usage has increased to 59 per cent in 1974 cars" as a result of the new system, compared with "six per cent in 1973 models. The number of motorists wearing no belts has decreased from 70 per cent in 1972 to 27 per cent in 1974."

The current auto safety crisis, according to other internal House memos, grew out of a meeting between Henry Ford II and former President Richard Nixon some four years ago. At that time, Ford reportedly told Nixon of his vehement opposition to air bags.

"Subsequently," says one memo, "there was a meeting with White House 'super heavyweights' (including John Ehrlichman" to discuss the air bags with then Transportation Secretary John Volpe.

As Volpe gloomily left the meeting, says the memo, he turned to a key aide and remarked, "We are in trouble on the air bag."

"This was just before the 1972 campaign," the document goes on and the white House hoped that Henry Ford "might play a role on behalf of Nixon's re-election."

Teen-ager discovers rare plant

If not a little child, at least a young lady shall lead them. Since 1971 the Truckee barberry has been considered "possibly extinct." Nor the U.S. Forest Service, the California Native Plant Society, or scores of botanists had been able to find what had come to be known as the "ghost species of the Sierra."

But 17 year old Catherine Kramer did.

Cathy, a junior at Tahoe-Truckee High School found about 50 of the rare plants 50 feet from the Truckee river and a football field away from her home in Truckee. They were in what one botanical expert described as a weirdly improbable site, "surely one of the world's smallest plant ranges."

Improbable because they were growing in two clusters which if they adjoined would not have covered an area of as much as 10 yards. They are surrounded by lush, leggy weeds which helped screen them from the eyes of experienced botanists, and were in and immediately behind the back yards of six homes, where trespassing was an inhibiting factor in any search those botanists might make.

And search they did.

For 39 years, James Roof, distinguished Botanic Garden Director of the East Bay (San Francisco) Regional Park District, had personally conducted a "still hunt" for the evergreen shrub, once described as "the rarest of California's woody native plant species."

With newspaper cooperation in the Truckee area, Roof renewed his hunt recently, publishing a photograph of a 90-year-old pressed specimen of what now is officially known as Berberis sonnei, in honor of a Charles Sonne, a Truckee botanist and lumber yard bookkeeper, who found that specimen in 1884 and sent it to the University of California's Dudley Herbarium.

Sonne's find went through a number of descriptive changes, but today it is a perpetual accolade to its finder, Sonne.

Cathy Kramer's discovery is highlighted by the fact that not long before she put it and the newspaper photograph together, and with the help of her teacher, Nick Santamaris, brought it to the botanists' attention. Roof, Dr. Ledyard Stebbins, professor emeritus of genetics at UC Davis, and botanist Gordon True had rounded up a so-called posse of Native Plant Society members, armed with binoculars and four-wheeled drive vehicles, to search the Truckee area for the barberry.

Roof has expressed hope that the newly discovered plant will be nurtured in botanic gardens and other plant sanctuaries throughout California. Several of the rare shrubs already are growing in Tilden Regional Park's Native Plant Botanic Garden, a part of EBRPD. He also, logically, suggests it should become Truckee's official plant.

How about expanding its name to Berberis sonnei cathy?

Just in jest

A psychoanalyst claims Americans are suffering from "fun pollution." Which only goes to show you how far out of line a psychoanalyst can sometimes get.

How can there be fun pollution in a nation where 200 out of every 100,000 persons are in prison?

Certainly there can be little rejoicing in a country where, because of a sudden shortage, the price of paper clips has gone up 300 percent.

And just ask any of our 3 million citizens who were treated for lice last year if it is fun to be so polluted!

But if you insist on proof positive that "fun pollution" has finally deserted the United States, consider this: The 14th annual World Congress of Nudists is this year being held in France.

VIC GOLD

Beware the 'theys' who pursue plots

WASHINGTON — "Martha Mitchell's heart-to-heart talk with Cornelia Wallace," proclaimed the magazine cover. Okay, what could I lose? Might as well read it. Serves me right, anyway, for going to a "hair stylist" instead of a barber.

But wait. There could be more to this than meets Martha's "I." Cornelia is discussing political sabotage, and — here, let me quote Alabama's First Lady directly, just the way Martha took it down:

"People don't want to believe there is such a thing as political sabotage," said Mrs. Wallace. "But I have seen it happen in my family."

Could she, I asked myself, be alluding to the assassination attempt on her husband? Possibly. Cornelia had already told Martha that she "never thought it was a one-man deal." And more significantly: "Neither has George."

Naturally Martha agreed, allowing that she, too, has always believed there were "more people involved in the assassination attempt than just Arthur Bremer." No surprise there. Martha Mitchell, along with former New Orleans District Attorney Jim Garrison and that other magazine writer, Norman Mailer, is an ardent purveyor of the "they" theory of how things happen in this world.

Even before Watergate and its "dirty tricks" revelations, the past decade and a half has been a mother lode era for "they," historians. That is, observers who pursue devil theories regarding all political events.

Garrison built himself into a national figure going after the "they's" he claimed had plotted the John Kennedy assassination. New Orleans' onetime D.A., to borrow Mrs. Wallace's phrase about the Bremer case, "never thought it was a one-man deal."

Then there's Mailer, in hot pursuit of the CIA-FBI-Pentagon conspiracy against everybody. Even Alger Hiss is trying to make a comeback, riding the "they" train. He claims to have been the victim of Nixon before Watergate. Which shows how far things can go when the "they" devils get dragged into the rewriting of history.

But back to Mrs. Wallace and her tale of political sabotage. It seems that it isn't her husband's tragic case she's telling Martha about. Rather it's what happened to her uncle, "Big Jim" Folsom, when he ran for reelection as Alabama governor 12 years ago.

"The night before the primary vote for the 1962 election," Cornelia says, "they gave him a shot . . . They had my uncle on live television, so confused he couldn't remember his own children's names. He could hardly talk. My uncle spent ten years trying to find out why he had been sold out."

Well, that happens to be one "conspiracy" this observers knows about, from eyewitness testimony. And let me tell you, Cornelia — you were just a kid at the time — your uncle actually did have a shot that election eve. Several, in fact. Liquid variety, followed by what "they" call "chasers."

Oh, it was a case of political sabotage, all right. Self-sabotage, to be exact. "They" — your uncle's friends — tried to persuade him to let the station run a prepared film clip that night. But when a candidate stands 6-foot-8, weighs 275 pounds, and says he's damn well going on live TV, he goes on. "Shots" and all.

I can understand the feeling of Alabama's First Lady about her husband's shooting (though not enough to go along with the theory that the misanthrope Bremer was part of a larger conspiracy). But if she means to equate that with what "they" allegedly did to "Big Jim" Folsom the night he blew the '62 governor's race, that's something else again.

And a devilish something else, too. After all, if Cornelia's "they" had actually done her uncle in that night, who benefited most? The man who got elected. And that turned out to be — as the unrevised history books tell us — a young candidate by the name of George C. Wallace.

Drive begins to restore 21 missions

All 21 California missions and their cities are being linked together in a mission restoration fund drive.

The funding drive centers around the sale of a multi-colored poster, "California mission," designed by illustrator Dick Cole. It depicts all 21 missions in the colors and hues of early California.

The missions, founded by Father Serra, Father Lasuen and other Franciscans, were the first religious centers in the state.

The poster sells for $2 with 50 cents going to mission restoration and 50 cents for youth employment around missions and mission cities' beautification projects.

In addition a sales at the missions, sales forces for the poster are being developed throughout the state.

An individual purchasing the poster may state preference as to which mission his gift is allocated.

The mission restoration program was developed by Northern California Savings' community relations department.

Runway job finished; OIA back to normal

Ontario International Airport has resumed its normal 24-hour-a-day operation upon the early completion of the main runway resurfacing project.

The $800,000 project, handled by the E.L. Yeager Construction Co., Riverside, was completed two weeks ahead of schedule.

Robert M. Hamilton Jr., airport manager, said a $270,000 main runway edge lighting project will begin Monday and is scheduled to take four months for completion. The project will be handled by Gregg Electric, Inc. Ontario.

Installation will include an emergency power generator, new lighting fixtures and cabling through a buried conduit system.

The new lighting system will replace the 30-year-old system first installed when the runway was built during World War II.

Hamilton said, "the new system will assure us of adequate lighting during inclement weather."

Interest centers added

Nursery school to open Sept. 9

Preschoolers at the Diamond Bar Community Nursery School will begin a new school year Sept. 9.

Mrs. Jane Gorman is the new teacher-director.

Plans call for the creation of interest centers where children will be allowed to freely explore, experiment and play according to their interests, curiosities and inspirations.

The centers will include art, music, science, cooking, literature, dramatic play, sewing and woodwork.

Parent participation in the school allows mothers to take an active part in the development of their children.

Classes will be held from 9 to 11:30 a.m. at the Northminister Presbyterian Church. The school is licensed by the California Department of Social Welfare.

Three-year-olds will meet on Tuesday and Thursday mornings, and 4-year-olds on Monday, Wednesday and Friday mornings. There are openings in the classes and mothers interested in enrolling children may contact Mrs. Roger L. Griffith, president, at 595-9862.

A nursery is provided for younger siblings on days mothers participate at the preschool.

Johnny Wonder's QUESTION CORNER

Q. "WHY IS THE SEASON OF AUTUMN CALLED FALL?"

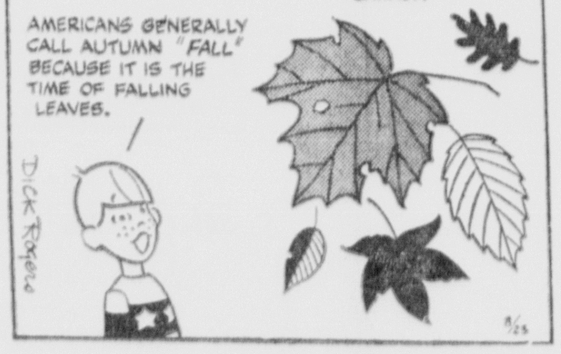
ROSEANN MACINTOSH
SYDNEY, NOVA SCOTIA, CANADA



Autumn is the season of the year that comes between summer and winter. For those of us who live where there is a marked change of seasons, we know it's autumn when the leaves change color and the crisp air pinches our cheeks.

Americans often call this season "fall" because it is the time of falling leaves. The name, autumn, is a form of the old Latin word for "maturing."

It is the period of ripeness when farmers harvest their crops. In the northern half of the world, autumn begins about Sept. 23. This day is called the autumnal equinox, when day and night are of equal length.

Autumn ends when winter starts, on December 22.

The tilt and the traveling of the earth around the sun causes the change in the seasons.

In the southern half of the world, the seasons are just the opposite. There, autumn begins and ends at the time spring begins and ends in the northern hemisphere.

A BRITANNICA Atlas, radio, camera, globe or other fine prize will be awarded to the first youngster sending in a question used here. Send your question and your age to Johnny Wonder, (c/o this newspaper), Box 1935 (DA), Santa Cruz, CA 95061

Five unusual women

Scientist combines family and career

WASHINGTON, D.C. (MW) — More and more mature women are coming "out of their cocoon," developing their own identity and purpose in life, and Dr. Estelle Ramey, professor of physiology and biochemistry at the Georgetown University School of Medicine here, deems it a healthy sign.

"It becomes much more acceptable when there are more of us," says the 56-year-old scientist, who has always combined family life with a career. "Middleaged women are now getting more ego support. Their children are proud of them. Other women are not reading them out of the corps."

In 1970 Dr. Ramey made headlines when she debated Dr. Edgar Berman, a physician who suggested that women were unfit to hold positions of authority because of their "raging hormonal influences." Since then, Dr. Ramey has been in great demand as a public speaker on women's place in society. She contends that not only do women cope well with monthly periods and menopause, but when it comes to survival, estrogen gives women "the protoplasmic edge" over men.

"Physically middleaged women are healthy. If they have menopausal problems, hormone therapy often helps." But Dr. Ramey worries that "emotionally, those women who stayed home and raised families and never developed any sense of self, are beginning to show wear and tear. We are seeing more mental illness in women, more women on tranquilizers and more female alcoholics. How terrible wasteful!"

Dr. Ramey campaigns for the day when husband and wife share home and job responsibilities. In her own case, she had housekeeper assistance in running a home and raising two children, a son who's a doctor and a daughter who's a lawyer. Husband, lawyer, James T. Ramey, not only approved of her having a career, but "he threw me out and sent me to work" she says laughing.

DR. ESTELLE RAMEY

Both met as students at Columbia University in New York where Dr. Ramey, a straight-A student with a summa cum laude degree from Brooklyn College, was doing graduate work in chemistry. Although she was just a few credits short of PhD when they married in 1941, she was prepared to give it all up to become a wife and mother. "That isn't good enough," he told her, "I can't live two lives for both of us."

They moved to Knoxville, Tennessee where James Ramey had a job with the TVA and Estelle Ramey applied for a teaching position with the University of Tennessee. "The chairman of the chemistry department looked at my credentials and said 'very nice, now go home and take care of your husband.' So I went home and got pregnant and then World War II started. The chairman called me back and said: 'Mrs. Ramey it is your patriotic duty to teach!' I spent the war years there."

Now a full professor at Georgetown University, author of two books and numerous articles, and president of the Association of Women in Science, Estelle Ramey insists it was "sheer luck" that distinguished her from other women who had done as well academically. She also credits her mother, who believed "I was a unique human being and there was nothing I couldn't accomplish," as well as her husband.

"I was fortunate to marry a man who had a strong sense of his own identity so he wasn't diminished by my success," reflects this totally feminine professor. Nestled in the bookshelves of her university office is a framed picture of her husband. It's signed: "To Stella, my not-so-silent partner. With great admiration, James."

Energy wasted

Did you know that approximately 80 percent of the electrical energy used for heating and air conditioning is wasted? Unfortunately, that's true, but you can do something about it. An enormous amount of heat and cold is lost through the windows, and we have learned that, depending on the exposure, from 15 to 35 percent more energy is required to heat or cool rooms with unshaded windows—so pull down your window shades when the sun pours in.

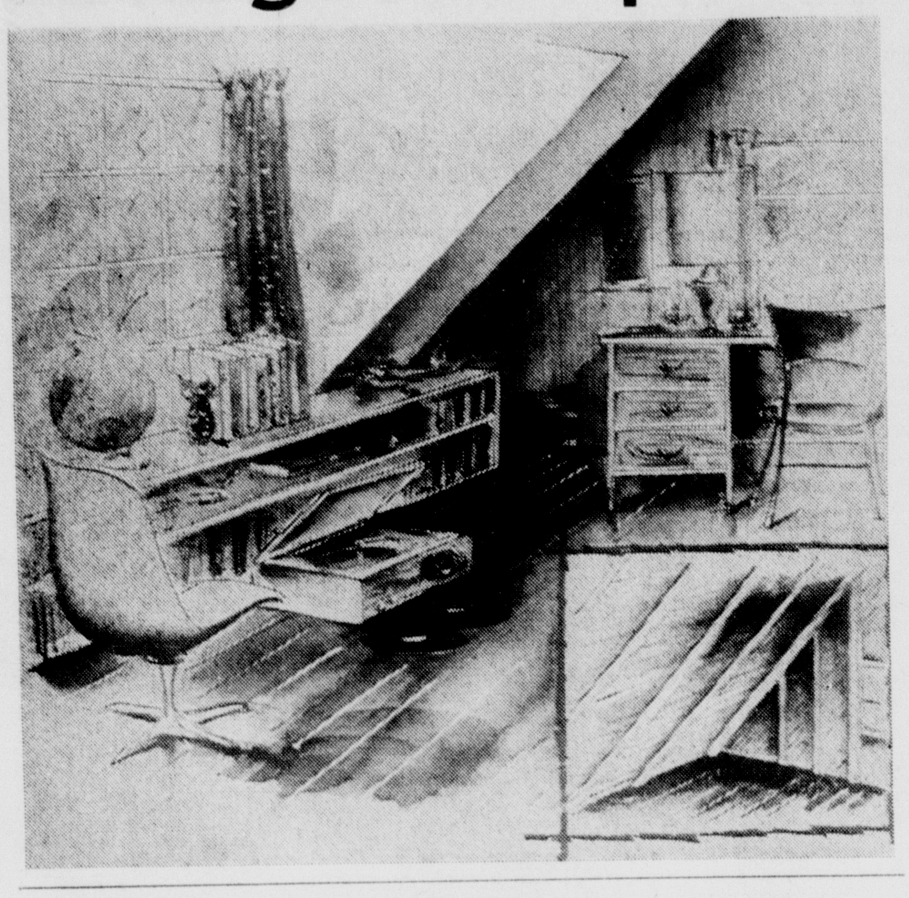
Attic good expansion spot



"Raise High The Roofbeams, Carpenter" can be your new rallying cry! Does the title of this book describe your desire for a new life style? If so, consider the attic. A new book tells how to modernize an attic to give your family more breathing space and living room.

When children are tots, they can be comfortably stowed away in bunk beds, perhaps even four to a room. As they grow older, however, their demands for privacy have to be met. If your home seems to have shrunk as your family has grown, look up — to the attic.

This new guide can help you transform your attic into prime living space by following step-by-step directions outlined and extensively illustrated. It tells how to install insulation, louvers, lay subflooring, build a stairway, install a skylight, large window, air conditioner, build partitions, and apply prefinished paneling and matching trim like a pro.

Many people who hesitate to sleep in a converted basement embrace the idea of an attic bedroom because it is lighter and airier. Proper use of windows seems to bring the outdoors inside, and makes the attic seem close to nature.

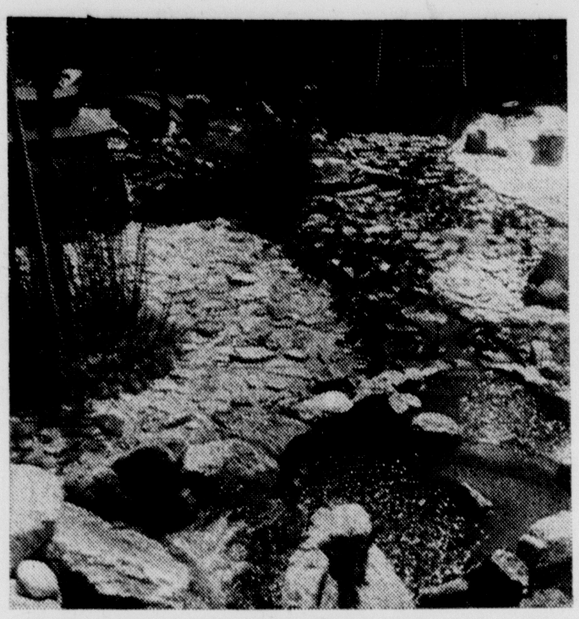
An air conditioner, especially, dispels hot air in summer. And a skylight could make the room an envied haven for the artist of the family. By adding a phonograph or stereo equipment, you could make your teen-agers flock to the attic. The living room or downstairs den might again be tranquil, with rock and roll music confined to the upper regions.

Since increased living space adds to the value of property, this is an economically sound move as well as a conveinent one. Banks and savings and loan associations will readily grant loans or refinance mortgages for such a renovation.

If you contemplate such a job, this book can become your best friend. It takes you by the hand, step by step. It assumes you are an amateur in the way it gives easy directions, even though you will look like a professional when the job is done. A note of reassurance: although this looks like a big job, relax! Everything seems difficult until we learn HOW it's done.

By undertaking and accomplishing the project, you will grow as an individual. The physical work involved is considered excellent therapy in relaxing the tight muscles of the mind. However, if you prefer to hire help to renovate your attic, this book can still assist you. Knowing how the job is done permits shopping for labor as easily as for materials.

One final world of encouragement: make your building material retailer your friend. He is there to help you. The more he helps, the more material you buy. Both benefit from questions you ask. That should give you the good feeling that you aren't alone with this project. If any point of construction has you puzzled, your dealer can clarify it in moments.



Fred and Margaret Klamm of 2089 Primrose Way, Pomona, have been working for the past five years, since they first moved into their home, on creating a scenic backyard. The fruits of their efforts, shown above, include a pond filled with tropical lilies, a six-foot waterfall, Bon Sai trees and statuary created by Mrs. Klamm. She forms the statues bit by bit using liquid cement. Some of the statues, she says, take months to complete and weigh hundreds of pounds. The pond holds 400 goldfish.

How to save

A 64-page book,et, "Citizen Action Guide to Energy Conservation," is available from the Superintendent of Documents, U. S. Government Printing Office, Washington, D.C. 20402, for $1.75 (Stock No. 4000-00300). It is published by the Citizens' Advisory Committee on Environmental Quality

The guide tells how to save energy in homes, commercial buildings, and industrial plants.

Insulate garage

If a home has an attached garage, the wall between it and the house should be insulated by stapling mineral wool blankets between the studs. The vapor barrier should face the house. Although the mineral wool fibers won't burn, the insulation should be covered with gypsum board or some other non-combustible material as an extra safety precaution and to protect the insulation from damage.

Prepare beds for winter color now

You can be assured of plenty of color this winter. Your local nurseryman soon will have winter color varieties on display for planting in mid-September. You'll have ample time to get the plants well established before cooler weather sets in.

The California Association of Nurserymen suggests you look for some of the following when shopping at your favorite nursery.

Pansies and Violas begin to bloom within days after you have set them out. Choose mixed colors in Pansies and separate colors in Violas — choice of yellow, blue, apricot or white. Both Pansies and Violas create startling effects in massed beds. Violas are also splendid foreground borders in front of taller annuals.

How about cut flowers for the house? Try winter Stock or Snapdragons. Winter Stock are generally massed as separate colors in shades of yellow, blue, pink, red or white. Snapdragons are used in mixed colors generally, but some kinds and colors are available separately. You have your choice of soft pastels in medium-height plants or well-defined sharp colors in the taller growing rocket strain.

For intermediate height, use the versatile Calendulas in shades of yellow, gold or apricot. There is nothing better in the garden or in the house to brighten a chilly winter day.

If your taste runs to dainty flowers, then Fairy Primroses are for you! Airy spikes of pink, red, lavender or white flowers lend themselves perfectly to either borders or mass planting.

Whatever your choice, keep in mind that soil preparation has a great deal to do with a successful planting. Work the beds to a depth of a foot, incorporating at the same time soil amendment recommended by your nurseryman. Rake beds smooth and set in the plants with as much soil from the flat as possible. Firm the plant into the soil and water with a soft stream from hose immediately. A week after planting you can apply a mild liquid food solution.

Nothing says "Autumn" in a house or in a garden like great, rich-colored drifts of Chrysanthemums. If you've already planted enough of these fall beauties, you have nothing to do but keep them watered, fed at frequent intervals, and sprayed if necessary. Taller growing kinds should be tied securely to stakes. For extra-large flowers, be sure to leave only one bud per stem. Don't feed plants after flower buds begin to show color.

If, however, you neglected to plant your Mums earlier this year—no problem. Nurseries that are members of the California Association of Nurserymen now have a large selection of bush chrysanthemums in one-gallon cans, fresh from growers and ready to set out now. These well-branched plants have been specially grown to give you a maximum of bloom.

For the best display it is best to concentrate on a limited number of varieties, then put in enough of each kind to make an effective planting.

You can choose from a color palette that goes from clear white to deep mahogany, and ranges through soft yellows, pinks and purples as well as bright reds, oranges and bronzes.

Versatile

Appearances csn be deceiving. For instance, a versatile party table now on the market —artfully disguised as a cocktail table ——rises tomany other occasions and many other heights (from 16 to 29 inches high) with a flick of a lever at its base. For cocktails, buffets, card parties or small dinners, Hickory Manufacturing Company's multi-use "hi-low" party table brings all kinds of entertaining right into the living room ro den. Ideally scaled, the 40-inch-round table will fit ccomfortably into almost any area. The "hi-low"is included in many of Hickory's collections, offering versatility in style as well as function.

If you want curling, fishhook petals, ask for spider Mums; and if you want the full, round enormous exhbition blooms, just ask for the large-flowered type and your nurseryman will help choose among the different forms available. Plant your Chrysanthemums in a sunny spot in well-prepared soil.

Molded

What do plastic accessories and strawberry gelatin salads have in common? A mold. A case in point is Syroco's extensive collection of accessories molded of durable thermo plastic from original wood-c arvings. Intricately carved mirror frames, wall plaques, graceful hanging planters are all painstakingly sculpted by Europen artisans from huge blocks of wood which are used as models for the molds in which the plastic forms are cast. When the process is complete, the result is much like the gelatin salad: an exact replica of the mold, delicately shaped, delightful to look at and, happily, very modestly priced. It's the berries!

Gardener's checklist

1. Cut back Hydrangeas after they finish blooming and feed with an acid-type fertilizer.

2. Feed lawns lightly if it's been a month since you last did it. Water them deeply and regularly through the hot weather of August and September.

3. Plant Citrus, Avocados, and other evergreen fruits now while the selection of varieties is still good.

4. Bait for snails. Frequent baiting is needed for complete control.

5. Hibiscus in full bloom can be transferred from the nursery container into the garden. Also try them in redwood containers to add color to your outdoor living area.

Dodgers greet Brock and company

By DON BRADLEY
P-B Staff Writer

LOS ANGELES — The Dodgers open a 12-game homestand tonight (7:30 p.m.) against Flying Lou Brock and the St. Louis Cardinals.

Brock, who is well on his way to braking Maury Wills' record of 104 stolen bases in a season, has 86 steals to date and represents a major obstacle.

The speedy leftfielder can't steal if he doesn't reach base. But he has been hitting over or near .300 most of the season and keeping him off base is not easy.

To complicate the situation, the Dodger catching staff is below par physically. Joe Ferguson is bothered by a slow-healing rib injury and Steve Yeager has numerous bruises and is still hampered by a pulled muscle.

On the bright side is the revival of the offense in the last three games on the road. Against the Chicago Cubs, the Dodgers batted .385 and scored 33 runs in three games.

The Dodger power boys, Jimmy Wynn, Steve Garvey and Ron Cey got well in Chicago. But they'll be facing far better pitching against the Cardinals. And the Cardinals are also on the thick of a pennant fight.

Young Doug Rau (12-6) faces Lynn "Little Gibby" McGlothen (13-8) in tonight's opener. McGlothen is called "Little Gibby" because of the resemblence in his pitching mannerisms to Bob Gibson, now in the twilight of his career.

With the opening of the homestand the Dodgers will be playing 25 of their remaining 38 games at Dodger Stadium.

The Dodgers are enjoying their best performance at Dodger Stadium since Walt Alston's team won the National League pennant in 1966.

A look at the Dodger record shows the team is 20 games over the .500 mark at home with 38 wins and 18 losses.

The last time a Dodger team finished 20 or more games over .500 at home was in 1966 when Alston's men were 53-28 at Dodger Stadium.

And in only one other year—1962, the first year of Dodger Stadium—have the Dodgers of Los Angeles been more than 20 games over .500 at home. In the 1962 season the Dodgers compiled a home mark of 54-29.

LOCAL - NATIONAL
Sports

The Cardinals, Chicago Cubs, Pittsburgh Pirates and San Francisco Giants each play three-game sets at Dodger Stadium.

The homestand will mark the Dodgers' final appearance of the season againt East Division teams and they will be playing two of the strong East contenders in the Cardinals and resurging Pirates.

When the Dodgers meet the Giants on Labor Day—Monday, Sept. 2 in a 5:15 p.m. game—it will be a case of West Division opponents the rest of the way for the Dodgers.

There will be two major promotional events during the homestand—Camera Day on Sunday, and Poster Day on Friday night, August 30, with the Pirates opening a weekend series.

A four-color poster containing pictures of pitchers Andy Messersmith and Mike Marshall, first baseman Bill Buckner and outfielder Willie Crawford will be given to all fans in attendance on Poster Day.

During the homestand the Dodgers will pass the two-million mark in attendance at Dodgers Stadium this season.

For 55 home dates (56 home games) the Dodgers are averaging 32,829 fans per game with a season attendance total of 1,805,565.

It will mark the 10th time the Dodgers have passed the two-million mark in one season and the Dodgers will continue their average of more than two million fans per season during the 17 years the team has been in Los Angeles.

Two of the four teams visiting Dodger Stadium will arrive with new managers—Jim Marshall the new pilot of the Cubs and Wes Westrum at the helm of the Giants.

Upsets continue in tennis tourney

BROOKLINE, Mass. (UPI) — For the second day in a row, an unheralded foreigner has emerged from the pack to strike down a top-seeded player in the $100,000 U.S. Professional Tennis Championships at the Longwood Cricket Club.

The story Wednesday was the upset of first-seeded Stan Smith by Jun Kamiwazumi of Japan, a 5-foot-6 former third baseman, and Thursday a towering self-exiled Czechoslovakian, Milan Holecek, knocked off 12th-seeded Harold Solomon of Ft. Lauderdale, Fla., a highly regarded clay court performer 4-6, 6-3, 7,5, in a second round match.

The other seeded players scheduled Thursday—Dutchman Tom Okker (2), Swede Bjorn Borg (4), Marty Riessen of Amelia Island, Fla. (8), Czech Jan Kodes (9), and Eddie Dibbs of Miami Beach, Fla., (10)— had little trouble advancing into the third round.

The 6-3 Holecek took everything that Solomon could throw at him Thursday and in the end pressured the fiery Washington, D.C., native into a double fault at deuce in the final game, then literally jumped for joy when Solomon's desparation crosscourt forehand missed the sideline.

Afterward Holecek revealed a life story that has had more drama than his cliff-hanging tennis victory. The son of a high-ranking Communist Party attorney and a former women's tennis champion, Holecek left Czechoslovakia when his parents deviated from the party line and were banished to the coal mines.

He took up residence in West Germany and waited for more than a year until his fiancee also could flee and join him. "It was like meeting all over again," said the 31-year-old Holecek. But he added, "It also was a love affair all over again."

They were married more than a year ago, have an infant child, and hope to become American citizens.

Holecek prefered to withhold certain details such as the method and timing of his escape and his current residence, somewhere in the United States—since his parents, now both in their late 60s, are still living in Czechoslovakia.

On Longwood's green, clay courts this week, Holecek has been surviving on sheer determination.

In his opening round match, he lost the first set to France's Georges Goven and was trailing 5-2 in the second set and facing elimination. But he rallied to take the second set, 7-5, then won the deciding set, 6-4, and the match.

Thursday night against Solomon, the 13th leading money-winner on the pro tour with a record on clay that made him a likely quarter or semifinalist, Holecek again lost the first set, 6-4.

Again he rallied in the second set, charging the net and zooming ground strokes past the lunging Solomon to even the match, 6-3.

Holecek and Solomon traded four service breaks early in the deciding set and when Solomon finally won his serve, the set was even at 3-3. Both players held service until Holecek led 65 and then the big Czech thought he saw the match roll away from him.

Otherwise, Okker ousted Swede Ove Bengtson, 6-3, 1-6, 6-2; Borg whipped Mexico's Marcelo Lara, 6-2, 6-0; Riessen beat Californian Jeff Borowiak, 6-3, 6-2; Kodes beat Australian Bob Rheinberger, 7-6, (in a tie breaker, 7-3 in points), 6-0; and Dibbs beat former U.S. Pro champion Bob Lutz, 6-4, 7-5.

In other matches it was Chilean Belus Prajoux over countryman Pat Cornejo, 6-4, 7-5, and Aussie Barry Phillips-Moore over his countryman Paul Kron?, 6-2, 6-3.

SOLID RESISTANCE

Chicago's Mark Kellar runs into solid resistance from Detroit's Terry Hoeppner (38) as an unidentified teammate tries to help. Chicago handed Detroit its seventh straight loss, 35-23.

Wheels roll toward ruin, lose 35-23

YPSILANTI, Mich. (UPI) — What the Detroit Wheels are doing off the field is far more of a mystery than what they are accomplishing on it.

No money, and thus far, no players, is the reason for Detroit's 0-7 record in the World Football League, the latest loss inflicted Thursday night 35-23 by the Chicago Fire with a national television audience as witness.

And those items are reasons why there is intrigue among the 33 owners who happen to be saddled with the Wheels at the moment.

The latest hot rumor was that fresh money had somehow mysteriously been injected into the financially drained Wheels.

Louis Lee, president of the Wheels, was going around telling everybody who would listen that "something good" transpired Thursday but he refused to elaborate.

He also hinted of a magic date next month—leading one to believe that somebody from outside would buy the team and keep it in Detroit or that the list of 33 owners would be chopped by about 30 or 32.

For most of the game against Chicago, worthless is just about what Detroit looked like.

Only a second half rally at the hands of rookie quarterback Bruce Shaw, seeing his first WFL action, kept the 10,300 fans from focusing their attention on the frisbees that started flying around when the score mounted to 28-8 at halftime.

Chicago's Walter Rhone had a 90-yard kickoff return for a TD in the first half and Virgil Carter of the Fire hit Don Burchfield with a nine-yard scoring pass to make it 35-8 when Shaw started the comeback. A fumble recovery near midfield ended up in a two-yard touchdown run by rookie Jim Rathje and the next time the Wheels had the ball, Shaw threw a 16-yard TD pass to Jon Henderson.

Aaron is breaking slump

HARRISON, N.Y. (UPI) — Tommy Aaron waited a long time to win his first major golf championship—and then he found out things weren't the way he thought they would be.

Aaron's trip has been all downhill since that Monday in April a year ago when he walked off the 18th green at Augusta as winner of the Masters.

He hasn't won another tournament since then.

In fact, Aaron finished 1973 in one of his worst slumps—and he's doing even more poorly in 1974.

"I had a real, bad letdown after I won the Masters," Aaron said Thursday after a five-under-par 67 put him in a four-way tie for the first round lead of the Westchester Classic.

"It was something I had always dreamed about doing and then when I did it, I thought about relaxing and enjoying it. I figured I had worked at it pretty hard all these years and now I could relax.

"But competition being what it is, that was dangerous thinking. As a result, I began to play badly."

Aaron finished last year in 44th place on the pro golf tour's moneywinning list, his worst showing in more than 10 years. And this year he has had only one finish in the top 10 in 25 starts—a sixth-place tie at Milwaukee—and stands 80th with only $23,305.

"I'm playing probably the worst golf since I've been on the tour," Aaron said. "My whole game deteriorated."

Three other journeymen were tied with Aaron at 67—Miller Barber, struggling since winning the World Open's $100,000 jackpot last autumn; Dale Douglass, who has been on a slide to oblivion since a time-consuming, two-year tour on the Tournament Players policy board wrecked his practice schedule, and hockey buff Larry Ziegler.

They're followed by an even-dozen group at four-under-par 68 headed by Arnold Palmer, who found his putting touch long enough to birdie six of his final ten holes on Thursday, and Jack Nicklaus, hoping to salvage the season with a couple of late-year victories.

Tom Watson, the young Western Open winner, and Bruce Crampton also had 68s along with Bob Murphy, the runnerup here last year and Dan Sikes, who has been second twice and third twice in seven previous Westchesters. The others in the group were John Lister, Jim Wiechers, Rod Funseth, Larry Hinson, Jerry McGee and Mason Rudolph.

Johnny Miller and defending champion Bobby Nichols were at 69, Tom Weiskopf and U.S. Open champ Hale Irwin at 70 and Gary Player at 71.

There were 55 scores under par, which isn't really a lot for Westchester, a pitch-and-putt par-72 playground that always produces some of the year's best scoring.

The 67s matched the highest first round score ever to lead this tournament, and many of the players observed the course and pin placements were set up as difficult as possible on Thursday.

"The pin placements were as difficult as I've ever seen them at Westchester—which I'm delighted to see," said Nicklaus, a two-time winner here. "I'm tired of seeing all these guys every week going out and shooting 63 on pretty good golf courses."

Angels start road trip; Muffet is pitching coach

NEW YORK (UPI) — The California Angels begin a 12-game road trip tonight with a new pitching coach and outfielder Morris Nettles, up from Salt Lake City of the Pacific Coast League, to replace the injured Mickey Rivers.

The Angels announced today Billy Muffett, a former coach with the St. Louis Cardinals and a minor league pitching instructor the last four years, has been hired to take the place of Tom Morgan.

Morgan, 44, resigned Wednesday night as California's pitching coach after being told by general manager Harry Dalton his contract would not be renewed.

"I don't have any animosity," Morgan said. "Harry gave me three years here. I'm only sorry I couldn't have done a better job for Mr. (Gene) Autry. He's a super owner, one who deserves a pennant."

Nettles was called up because Rivers has suffered a broken carpal bone in his right hand. Rivers will be operated on next week and is expected to remain sidelined for the rest of the year.

California sends Skip Lockwood, 2-4, being brought out of the bullpen, against Rudy May, 5-2, in the opening game of a three-game series with the New York Yankees.

Daily double pays $4,110

DEL MAR, Calif. (UPI) — The second highest daily double payoff in Del Mar history worth $4,110 was produced Thursday when 105-1 longshot More Influence won the first race and 30-1 outside Artful Aim tallied in the second race.

Twenty-two $2 tickets were purchased on the winning 7-3 combination.

The track's record daily double payoff was $5,299.30 when Party Suit and Bold Times won the first two races July 28, 1971.

More Influence returned $212 for finishing first in a field of 11 as the longest shot on the board. Artful Aim earned $62.40.

Rams-Dolphins, best pre-season matchup

LOS ANGELES — In what is perhaps the summer's most interesting NFL matchup, the Rams take on the two-time Super Bowl Champion Miami Dolphins Saturday night at the Coliseum before an estimated 70,000.

Kickoff time is 6 p.m. in order to accommondate national television (NBC), but the game will be blacked out in the Southern California area.

What makes this one worth watching is the fact that most pre-season predictors are picking these two teams to wind up in the Super Bowl on Jan. 12 in New Orleans. That would be a familiar setting for the Dolphins, who have visited the NFL's title game the last three seasons, winning in the last two.

For the Rams, however, it would be a new experience. Owner Carroll Rosenbloom's team went to the playoffs in 1973, but lost to Dallas in the first round.

Rosenbloom, however, can claim other distinctions relate dto the Super Bowl. His 1971 Baltimore team won the classic, and four of the last six coaches to win the Super Bowl were discovered by Rosenbloom.

One of them, of course, was Don Shula, of the Dolphins. Shula, who coached for Rosenbloom in Baltimore, vs. Rams head man Chuck Knox invites an interesting comparison. Shula has been a head coach for 11 seasons, compiling an amazing 117-32-5 regular season record. Knox, on the other hand, led the Rams to a 12-2 mark in his first year and was named "coach of the year."

It's the men on the field, however, who figure to provide the entertainment.

The Dolphin list of so-called "no names" was turned into an all-pro roster in a hurry when they began to win three years ago. Miami players such as Manny Fernandez, Nick Buoniconti, Dick Anderson, Larry Csonka, Bob Griese, Larry Little, Jim Kiick, Paul Warfield and Bill Stanfill are familiar to football fans across the coutry.

With most of their veterans returning to action, the Dolphins whacked Minnesota, 21-9, Monday night to bring their pre-season record to 2-1. Earlier, they had lost to Cincinnati, 16-13, before downing New Orleans, 45-20.

The Rams are also 2-1, thanks to their 58-16 shellacking of Kansas City last Saturday night. It was a game in which most of the Los Angeles vets were appearing for the first time in '74, and both units functioned with the same kind of precision that helped the Rams lead the NFL in total offense, total defense and scoring last year.

The Chiefs, however, were scrimmaging with mostly rookies and Knox knows things will be quite different this Saturday night.

For one thing, the Dolphins started most of their front-liners against the Vikings and figure to do the same at the Coliseum.

Knox also began with regulars last week, but went to his bench early as the Rams built up a 17-3 lead with its potent running game. It didn't seem to matter who carried the ball. Seven Rams backs averaged 8.3 with 43 carries for 357 yards and six touchdowns and Cullen Bryant, in his first night as a ball carrier, raced 117 yards and averaged 10.6.

Against the Chiefs, the starters played as a group for about a quarter, but Knox has indicated their activity will be stepped up this week. "They need the work to bet their conditioning and timing," he said.

Two regulars—center Ken Iman and Middle linebacker Jack Reynolds—who did not play last week because of minor injuries should be ready for the Dolphins. Iman has a knee ailment and Reynolds a hamstring pull.

Hhowever, the availability of running backs Jim Bertelsen and rookie John Cappelletti is questionable. Bertelsen twisted a knee against Kansas City and Cappelletti haas been out with an ear infection.

If Bertelsen can't go, Lawrence McCutcheon's backfield running mate could be either Rob Scribner, who zipped 50 yards to a touchdown Saturday night, or Bryant, who scored from 29 yards out.

John Hadl will open at quarterback for the third straight week, although his summer signal calling has been limited to only about three quarters during which time he has thrown but 11 times and completed five.

James Harris was Hadl's replacement against the Chiefs, firing two touchdown passes in the romp, but young Ron Jaworski also stands ready to face the Dolphins. It was Harris who led the Rams on a second-half comeback try a year ago in a National TV pre-season game in Miami. The Rams lost that one to the Dolphins, 17-14, but it was that performance in the second half that got the Rams moving toward their successful season. They won their final two pre-season games, then took their first six in the regular season.

Although Saturday's contest will be blacked out locally, KNBC (Channel 4) will carry a tape delayed telecast Sunday at 12:30 p.m. Live radio coverage will be provided by KMPC.

Rookie killed in ball game

SALEM, Va. (UPI) — Eighteen-year-old Alfredo Edmead, one of the leading prospects on the Pittsburgh Pirates Salem farm club, was killed Thursday night when he collided with a teammate chasing a pop fly during a Carolinas League baseball game.

Edmead, from Santo Domingo in the Dominican Republic and in his first year of pro ball, collided with second baseman Pablo Cruz in the sixth inning of a game between Salem and Rocky Mount, N.C., as he came in, head down, from right field.

A club spokesman said Cruz's knee struck the youngster in the head and he died about an hour later at a local hospital of massive brain injuries. Cruz was not seriously hurt but was hospitalized.

In his brief career, the 5-foot-10 left-hander had stolen 61 bases, hit seven home runs and was batting around .300 for the Pirates.

He journeyed to this Western Virginia town early in the year for his first taste of organized baseball with his best friend, centerfielder Miguel Dilone. The two roomed together and Edmead was second in the league in stolen bases, trailing only Dilone, who had 81.

He was described as one of the club's most promising recruits in recent years and was given an excellent chance of moving up to a Triple-A team next season.

Edmead and Dilone were the leadoff batters for Salem, which is in first place in the six-team league.

Brian Hoffman, a sports writer with the Salem Times-Register, said the 154-pound outfielder was so intent on catching the pop fly hit by Rocky Mount's Murray Gage-Cole that he never saw Cruz go after the ball.

"Alfredo was running with his head down and they never stopped. The ball went flying out and they both went down. Pablo got up but a couple of players ran out and saw Alfredo and called for an ambulance right away," he said.

The youngster stopped breathing on the field but was revived by the team trainer.

Major league roundup

Splittorf hates 'matchbox'

By United Press International

Paul Splittorff has his own cryptic description of what it's like to pitch in Cleveland's Municipal Stadium.

"Its like pitching in a matchbox," he says. "The balls fly out of here like rockets."

The 27-year-old left-hander had just pitched the Kansas City Royals to a 3-1 victory over the Indians which moved them to within 4 ½ games of the first-placed Oakland A's in the American League's Western Division.

A low-key guy who describes an athlete's life as "a battle against time," Splittorff raised his record to 13-12 and kept alive faint hopes of winning 20 games for the second straight season. More important, of course, is that he helped keep alive the Royals' hopes of overtaking the A's and winning the Western title.

Splittorff carried a 3-0 lead into the bottom of the ninth inning before losing his shutout on Joe Lis' third homer of the season. Amos Otis hit a two-run homer in the fourth inning and Hal McRae homered in the top of the ninth to provide the Royals with all their runs.

The Texas Rangers routed Jim Palmer, the AL's Cy Young Award winner in 1973, and beat the Baltimore Orioles 6-2 in the only other major league game played Thursday. No National League games were scheduled.

"It wouldn't be right if I didn't leave Cleveland without giving up a run," laughed Splittorff. "It seems I always give up homers here. You've got to be conscious of those runners on the bases when you pitching in a small park like this one."

Clevelands Municipal Stadium has a seating capacity of 76,997 but the distance along both foul lines to the fences is a modest 320 feet and an inner fence which runs across the outfield is only 385 feet distant from the plate in the right and left field power zones. It thus ranks with Boston's Fenway Park and Chicago's Wrigley Field as a "hitter's paradise."

One of the most underpublized of the AL's 12 20-game winners last season, Splittorff is a young man in a hurry despite his quiet disposition.

"This is a battle against time," he says when talking about a major leaguer's career. "The first thing is to get to the majors. You have to do that by about the time you're 24 years old or you're losing the battle. Then you have to develop consistency. That's what brings you big money in the few starring years that you are likely to have."

Splittorff had an 8-9 record for the Royals in 1971 and was 12-12 in 1972 before posting a 20-11 mark in 1973.

Otis has hit safely in 22 of the Royals' last 23 games including a club record 19 straight. He has collected 37 hits in 90 at bats during that period good for a .411 average.

Toby Harrah's three-run homer was the big blow of a five-run fourth-inning explosion which tagged Palmer with his ninth defeat against four wins. Ferguson Jenkins, suspected of having lost much of his speed after a 14-16 record with the Chicago Cubs last season, allowed six hits in seven innings and raised his mark to 18-11. He complained of an upset stomach after a 28-minute rain delay and Steve Foucault pitched the last two innings. Brooks Robinson drove in both Baltimore runs with a double in the seventh inning.

Sports in Brief

Lovell KOs Daniels

LOS ANGELES (UPI) — Argentine heavyweight Pedro Lovell ended a nine-month layoff Thursday night by knocking out veteran Billy Daniels of New York with a double left hook to the body in the first round of their scheduled 10-round bout at the Olympic.

Lovell scored his 13th pro victory, all by KOs. The 25-year-old Argentine shook Daniels with a right hand to the chin early in the round and then put him down with two left hooks with 59 seconds left.

SOUTH ORANGE, N.J. (UPI) — Jimmy Connors continued to sharpen up his game on grass courts in preparation for next week's U.S. Open at Forest Hills, N.Y. by registering his second victory in the $50,000 Medi-Quik Open Tennis tournament Thursday at the Orange Lawn Tennis Club.

Connors, current Wimbledon champion who was seeded No. 1 in the U.S. Open, had early problems with Mark Farrell of Great Britain before advancing to the quarterfinals with a 6-4, 6-3 triumph.

The Bellville, Ill. star upheld his top seeding position, but Nos. 4 and 5 seeded players, Raul Ramirez of Mexico and Onny Parun of New Zealand, fell by the wayside in minor upsets.

FULLERTON, California (UPI) — Rookie free agent Jeff Horsley, a running back from North Carolina Central, was released on waivers Thursday by the Los Angeles Rams.

The Rams ended their daily workout by concentrating on the team's "two-minute" offense. Coach Chuck Knox said the entire squad except for running back Jim Bertelsen would be available for Saturday night's game against the Miami Dolphins.

HIRAM, Ohio (UPI) — It was just a matter of time before coach Nick Skorich cut back the number of quarterbacks in the Cleveland Browns training camp to three.

Veteran quarterback Don Horn was the one to go. He was released to the San Diego Chargers on waivers Thursday. The 29-year-old Horn came to the Browns in 1973 after two seasons with Denver.

Cornerback Ted Seels, who left a career in baseball to play with the Browns, and defensive end Ron McNeil, a 12th round draft choice, were also cut.

ROSEBURG, Oregon (UPI) — Catcher Jim Guardino slammed a two-run double to left field in the top of the second inning Thursday, to account for all of the runs in Campbell, Calif.'s 2-0 victory over Cedar Rapids, Iowa, in game two of the 1974 American Legion World Series.

NEWPORT, R.I. (UPI) — Top seeded Chris Evert survived a momentary mental lapse Thursday and went on to trim a determined Janet Newberry 7-2, 7-5, to advance to the semi-finals of the $30,000 Virginia Slims grass court championships at the Newport Casino.

Bonnie Bell cup captain Julie Heldman of Houston, Tex., outsmarted an outclassed Lesley Charles of England, 6-3, 6-3, running the Britisher from one side of the court to the other before putting away pretty game winners.

Second seeded Olga Morozova of Russia was slated to take one Betsey Nagelsen of St. Petersburg, Fla., and third seeded Virginia Wade of England was to go against Mima Jausovec of Yugoslavia in Friday's quarterfinals matches.

PHILADELPHIA (UPI) — Barry Ashbee, former Philadelphia Flyers all-star defenseman whose career ended when a puck struck him in the eye, was named assistant coach of the Stanley Cup champions Thursday.

The announcement by General Manager Keith Allen said Ashbee will concentrate on defensemen and also do some scouting for the team, spending time with both the Flyers and the club's top farm team, the Richmond Robins.

ANDY SANCHEZ . . . . Cal Poly receiver

Sanchez will be little big man in wide open Cal Poly offense

He's little, but don't let that fool you.

Despite being small in stature, 5-7 and 180 pounds, Cal Poly, Pomona wide receiver Andy Sanchez can get the job done. And even more important he knows it.

"Don't get me wrong," Sanchez said, "I'm confident, not cocky. It's just that I really feel we're going to get it done here." And thus far during two-a-day training sessions at Cal Poly Sanchez has done nothing to cast doubt on that statement.

Sanchez comes from a winning background both in high school and college. He also comes to Cal Poly fully realizing the tradition of head coach Andy Vinci and the hard work which looms ahead.

"I played for Coach Vinci last year at University of San Diego and that's one reason when I heard he was leaving USD I enrolled in a junior college and got enough units to be eligible at any four year school," Sanchez noted.

Still the versatile gridiron player wasn't exactly set to follow Vinci to Pomona. "I visited other schools and didn't really make up my mind until late in July," Sanchez said. "One of the big reasons for enrolling in Cal Poly is the fact I know the offense and know the coaches. They're square shooters and that's what really counts."

Sanchez caught 58 passes for 874 yards and eight touchdowns last year and was also ranked high in kickoff and punt returns. He averaged over 16 yards each time he touched the pigskin on a return play.

At the conclusion of the 1973 season he earned all-Coast and honorable mention All-American honors.

"He'll hurt our oppoents in so many ways," Vinci said. "Andy is dangerous both as a punt return specialist as well as a pass receiver. Last year he had several plays which covered more than 50 yards."

Sanchez, who was a running back until switched to wide receiver by now Bronco offensive coordinator Erik Widmark a year ago, has been hurting opponents throughout his gridiron career.

In 1969 he was named CIF Player of the Year for San Diego and picked up numerous other football honors.

The Cal Poly history-PE major also has his eyes on a shot at professional football. "I think the World Football League has opened up a new roll for people who want to play ppro ball," Sanchez said. "As for my size, I don't think it has hurt me yet and a lot of teams — take Kansas City for instance—have small backs and receivers. It all comes down to whether you can get the job done or not," he said.

"I really feel there is a spot in professional ball for the little man," Sanchez says with a note of confidence.

His goals are modest this year and, like other players recruited by Vinci and his staff, the team comes first. "I want to have a winning season and then we'll worry about personal goals,' the wide receiver said. "The only real personal goal I have is to earn my degree. That's a must."

The new Cal Poly receiver is impressed with Bronco quarterback Jim Zorn. "He's good, real good. Jimmy could go all the way in either league," Sanchez said in reference to proball.

And when Sanchez toots Zorn's horn observers should sit back and listen. Last year at USD the pass receiver was on the end of aerials hurled by All-American quarterback Bobby Dulich. "Jimmy can do it all and I really feel he'll be better than Bobby was,' Sanchez says. "He stays in the pocket well and can lead a team."

Reds expect tight race to the end

CINCINNATI (UPI) — An old-fashioned, honest-to-goodness, red hot, down to the wire —whatever other cliches you can think of—pennant race between the sizzling Los Angeles Dodgers and Cincinnati Reds is the expectation of nearly every Reds player and coach.

As Cesar Geronimo puts it, "it's just going to be one helluva race."

The Reds today trail the Dodgers by three and a half games with 37 games to go, six of them key battles against the Dodgers.

At this point a year ago, Cincinnati was two and a half games behind Los Angeles, but the Reds stormed to an easier than expected National League West title in September over the faltering Dodgers.

It should be a lot tighter this year, most of the Reds believe. A sampling of opinions:

Don Gullett: "It's going to be close. Neither club is about to die. Any kind of a losing streak from here on out could do it, but I don't expect it from either team. These are just two great ball clubs—probably the best two in the majors. I know the Dodgers are boing to be bearing down, but I really feel we've got the better team."

Pete Rose: "For our sake I hope it continues to be a hot race. We still haven't caught them. We need to get even with them before we meet them head on. I can't say those six games will determine it all, but we can't afford to lose many of them. We're a funny ball club. We win a lot on the road. That might make the difference."

Cesar Geronimo: "It's just going to be one helluva race. All the way through September. The Dodgers are improved, but overall, were the better team."

Manager Sparky Anderson: "We should know what's going to happen by Sept. 8 (after three of the six Reds-Dodgers games). The pattern might be set. I'm not so sure the Dodgers are that much better than last year. They won 95 games last year and it's hard to get a lot better than that. Just how much more difference can (Jimmy) Wynn and (Mike) Marshall make to them? If anybody's make a difference for them, I'd say it is (Steve) Garvey."

Clay Carroll: "The Dodgers won't fold, but we've got better hitters. They've got a helluva bullpen in Marshall, but overall, I'll compare our pitching staff to theirs."

George Foster: "In a word— exciting. Close all the way. No more than two or three games separating us at the end. We're starting to hit now, but pitching is going to be the big thing near the end. Marshall and Wynn— what a difference they've made for the Dodgers. They're so much tougher than last year."

Hitting coach Ted Kluszewski: "Oh, I hope its not close. For the sake of my general being. But I'm afraid it's going to be very tight. Those six games we've got left are such big factors—such important games."

Darrell Chaney: "It won't be like last year. The Dodgers blew it last year. They're a lot better. We got behind early this season because we were making too many fundamental mistakes. We're playing better now, but it's going to be a long road."

Tony Perez: "Those six games will tell it. They're improved, but so are we. Bench and Morgan are hitting now. Not me yet. I need to get a hot bat this last month."

Andy Kosco: "Closer yes, but no doubt about us winning. It's going to come down to sheer personnel. Look at the two clubs position by position and you've got to believe we're going to do it. Were hanging in now and Rose is even hitting. I think he'll have a good September and that should make the difference."

NEW YORK (UPI) -- It's called the "wedge," and it's the best play pro basketball players know.

Earl Monroe, star guard of the New York Knicks and the man of a thousand herky-jerky moves on the court, is using the "wedge" for the first time but it's a play others have been using for eight years—ever since the American Basketball Association has competed for talent with the National Basketball Association.

Monroe, it was learned Thursday, is negotiating with the ABA St. Louis Spirits. He still has his option year remaining with the Knicks and is expected to play in New York this season. But, through his agent, Larry Fleisher, Monroe is "trying to entertain any offers I can get" and he's talking to the Spirits about a multi-year, million-dollar contract beginning in 1975.

Even if Monroe never takes a single shot for St. Louis, he will increase his value simply by talking. That's how good the "wedge" play is.

New York, if it wants to hold on to the 28-year old Monroe, will be forced to match St. Louis' offer. But there's more to this deal than just numbers.

Monroe was expected to be the trade bait New York was going to give the Philadelphia 76ers if the Knicks are able to reach agreement with George McGinnis, star forward of the ABA Indiana Pacers. McGinnis has only a option year remaining with the Pacers — that obligation will be tested in Marion County Superior Court today—and he has said several times he would like to jump leagues to the Knicks.

Philadelphia holds the NBA rights to the muscular 6-foot-8 McGinnis, however. But the 76ers, after offering millions to McGinnis without signing him, allowed the Knicks to talk to him earlier this week. If the Knicks agree to terms with McGinnis, the 76ers were expected to be compensated with Monroe, a native of Philadelphia. If Monroe, who makese about $200,000 a year with New York, signs with St. Louis, the McGinnis to New York deal could fall through because the 76ers aren't about to give up the rights to McGinnis for a player who will leave after one year.

The 10-minute test drive vs. The 24-hour Trial.

You go to a showroom and look at a car. You like it enough to ask for a test drive. You take it around the block a few times. The salesman tags along and gives you his pitch. Before you know it, you're back in the showroom. You buy the car.

Three months later you're sorry.

You go to a showroom and look at a Peugeot. You like it enough to ask for a test drive. The salesman hands you the keys. The car is yours for 24 hours.

Why do we lend you a Peugeot sedan for 24 hours? Because we believe you should spend some time with a car before you spend your hard-earned money.

We also believe the more you drive a Peugeot the more you'll want to own one.

So when we invite you to take a Peugeot for 24 hours and put it to the test, we mean it.

We want you to drive it the way you drive your car, over the roads you drive your car (and the roads you wouldn't drive your car). We'll be surprised if you're not impressed.

The Peugeot has such a rare combination of European handling and American ride, all three Detroit automakers bought one to find out how we did it.

The Peugeot also has a lot of touches you don't find on a lot of cars. Like fully reclining seats. Four wheel power disc brakes. Michelin steel-belted radial tires. Child-proof locks on the rear doors. And a roof that lets the sun shine in.

So if you're shopping for a new car, don't make up your mind after a mere 10-minute test drive.

Come to one of the Peugeot dealers listed below. Look at our 4-door sedan vs. our 5-door wagon. Consider our economical gasoline engine vs. our even more economical diesel. Then take a Peugeot for a 24-hour trial.

You won't be sorry.

For Hennessy Cup

Predict great race

LONG BEACH — The 175 mile Hennessy California Cup, the only world championship point race on the West Coast, will have the most spectacular race in its ten year history, Saturday.

The race is staged by the Pacific Offshore Power Boat Racing Association and sponsored by Jas. Hennessy & Co., Cognac, France. Marina del Rey is the host.

Highlighting its importance is the invasion of twelve boats from the East, Mid West, Texas and Brazil.

And to cap this importance, there will be a race within a race as Billy Martin of Clark, N.J., driving a 40-foot Cigarette, BOUNTY HUNTER, powered by two 496 c.i. Mer Cruiser Engines, makes a last ditch effort to beat Art Norris of Detroit, driving a 36-foot Cigarette, SLAP SHOT, powered by similar engines for the U.S. inboard offshore title. Martin could conceivably overtake Norris with a first and a second in this and the San Francisco race. The odds overwhelmingly favor Norris, but David once beat Goliath.

Two new boats are making last minute efforts to get ready in time for the Hennessy. Paul Cook of San Francisco expects to run his 38-foot RON JONES tunnel hull. Tight security has been maintained on the honey-comb aluminum KUDU II, but it is reported that each of the two pontoons will contain a member of the crew and an engine, a change from most tunnel hull designs.

Mid-Westerner, C. Stephen Babin of Ohio has turned to the West Coast for a new design. Babin has had a 40-foot boat built of the type of aluminum used in airplanes, uses inboard engines without stern drives and features surface-piercing propellors. Its name is TRIPLE "B" SPECIAL and its power is furnished by two 496 c.i. MerCruisers.

Some of the other Easterners include Eddie Sims of Atlantic City, N.J., site of the Hennessy Grand Prix, driving a 40-foot Gara, RUM RUNNER, powered by two 468 c.i. Kiekhaefer Aeromarine engines, Hal Sahlman of Boca Raton, Florida driving a 31-foot ciagrette, LITTLE CIGARETTE, powered by two 496 c.i. MerCruisers. This combination of relatively small hull driven by huge engines gave Sahlman a second place in the recent Cedar Point Classic on Lake Erie.

Barry Cordingley of Miami, a veteran of the offshore wars, will drive WHY NOT, a 40-foot Gara powered by two 496 c.i. engines which took a second at the Hennessy Grand Prix run earlier this year.

Roger Hanks, the Texas oil tycoon, a gentleman who prefers blonds will rece BLONDE II, a 36-foot Cigarette powered by two 496 c.i. MerCruiser engines.

The man who has travelled the furthest to the Hennessy, Wally Franz of Brazil, will drive a 38-foot Bertram, BRASIL powered by two 468 c.i. Kiekhaefer Aeromarine engines. Franz, in his first year on the world circuit, has consistently run with the leaders.

What in the days before women's lib used to be called the distaff side will be well represented in both the open and the sports classes. Steve Babins fiancee, Betty Bloehm, will drive his TRIPLE B II that Babin financee, Betty Bloehm, will drive his TRIPLE B II that Babin has campaigned extensively this season.

And there's another bouncing Betty, Betty Cook, the wife of Paul Cook. She will drive MONGOOSE, a 31-foot Bertram powered by two 496 c.i. MerCruisers.

The smallest boat in the offshore open field is a 23-foot Marie Holm, VOLVO II, powered by Volvo engines, driven by Bob Sinclair of Torrance.

The Production and Sports classes will generate just as fierce a competition in their 98 mile course

In the Production class some of the Eastern boats are Joey Weichelsbaum of Rye, N.Y. driving MIGHTY MOUSE II, a 28-foot Cigarette powered by two 350 c.i. MerCruisers. Jean Claude Simon of Miami has entered BEEP BEEP TOO, a 29-foot Cary with similar power. Local talent, Jim Solum of Huntington Beach, will drive WILD WON, a 24-foot Maurauder powered by two 351 c.i. Fords.

Other local entrees in the Sports class entries include John Drake, builder of Indianapolis Offy engines, who will drive DRAKE SPECIAL, a 22-foot Schiada powered by a single 454 c.i. Chevy engine. Barry McGowan will drive BONZAI, a 24-foot Spectra powered by two 454 c.i. Chevys. Seventeen year old Bobby Garr of Coral Gables, Florida, youngest offshore racer, will drive a 28-foot Cigarette, EL DIABLO, powered by two 350 c.i. Chevys. Bob Brown of Sepulveda will drive a 24-foot Schiada, RING LEADER, powered by a single 468 c.i. Chevy.

The Open, Production and Sports classes will include more boats before race time with entries accepted until the drivers meeting at the California Yacht Club, Five o'clock Friday, August 23.

Saturday, the Hennessy goes off at 10:00 a.m. A hot wire or communications area will be set up dockside at the California Yacht Club.

The presentation of the overall first pribe, the Tiffany Sculptured Hennessy Cup will be made at the Yacht Club immediately after the winning boat comes in.

Pairing weight from 250 to 222 is task for Foreman

PLEASANTON, California — There are lots of trees and resultant shade from the hot valley sun at Pleasanton, 40 miles southeast of San Francisco. The well-tended grass, the race track and grandstands and the various exhibition halls provide a proper backdrop of small town Americana for the world heavyweight champion's training camp. George Foreman, patriot, goes to work at 2:30 daily in the Mineral and Gem building.

For eight tedious weeks the undefeated king of the heavyweights will drill for the September 24 meeting in Kinshasa, Zaire, with the living legend, Muhammad Ali.

Foreman started working August 1. He admitted to 250 pounds. "I'm a heavyweight and I'm not concerned about how much I weigh now. The important thing is how I feel. However, I expect to come into the fight at around 222," observed the champ.

"I'll get him from one to 15 rounds, but I'd like to get it over with fast."

"If for some reason it has to go 15, I'll go 15."

The fight is scheduled to start at 3 a.m. in Kinshasa's expanded 120,000 seat soccer stadium. What effect will that have on George

"It shouldn't bother me. Most of the fights I had in my non professional days started about that time."

"At 11 o'clock everybody would start drinking. Then they'd get with the girls. When the girls went home everybody started fighting. There was nothing else to do."

Dick Sadler, Foreman's colorful manager, talks about how "we" will take care of Ali. "A lot of years have gone by and I think those years are going to tell on Ali." Sadler observed "The running Ali is doing in training camp is most commendable, only the event in Africa is not going to be a track meet."

"This is a world championship fight and you can't win too much running. If Ali wants to take the title, he'll have to come in and take it."

And then a smile spreads across Sadler's animated face. "And if Ali tries to come in and take it, we'll knock him out quick."

Taiwan, Red Bluff advance

WILLIAMSPORT, Penna. (UPI) — Kao Hsiung, Taiwan and Red Bluff, Calif., both won Thursday to move into the final championship game of the Little League World Series Saturday.

It was an easy win for Taiwan, which blanked Tallmadge, Ohio, 11-0 in the semifinal. Red Bluff edged Maracaibo, Venezuela, 4-3.

The Taiwanese team scored seven runs in the first inning, banging out six hits, including a homer—one of two—by Lin Wen-Hisung. He hit three homers in two World Series games.

Tallmadge's only hit came in the fifth inning when Larry Love singled.

Red Bluff scored three unearned runs in the bottom of the fifth inning to come from behind for the win. It took a 1-0 lead in the second inning when starting pitcher Mark Cox walked with the bases loaded to bring in a run.

Maracaibo scored three runs in the third with one out when Ender Villasmil singled followed by a base on balls and two Red Bluff errors.

Winning pitcher Boyd Hedden struck out 13 and walked three. Taiwan's winning pitcher, Kao Sun-Teh, limited Tallmadge to just one hit, while striking out eight and walking only two.

Record year for company

By ROGER SPEAR

Q—I am interested in investing in Wheelabrator-Frye (NYSE). Would you elaborate on this stock for growth and income?—E. B.

A—Wheeabrator appears to be well on its way toward racking up another record-breaking year. Earnings rose 22 per cent on a 41 per cent gain in sales for the first six months. Full-year sales should be well in excess of $325 million with earnings pegged at $1.50 a share. The Environmental Systems Group last year accounted for over half of sales and 61 per cent of income. Rising materials costs and direct expensing of research and development reduced profit margins, but the latter expenditures promise long-range benefits.

Wheelabrator has enhanced its own prominent position in air pollution control with licensing agreements with two European firms specializing in electrostatic precipitators, sulfur dioxide control and waste-to-energy incineration systems. A plant utilizing the latter technique will go on stream in New England next year. Three major contracts have been received recently, a $5 million order from Republic Steel, plus supervision and engineering of construction on two plants valued at $360 million. At seven times earnings, yielding 3.6 per cent, the shares are a worthwhile purchase.

Q—Would you please express an opinion for income and safety on short-term notes of GMAC. Are others as good?—F.A.

A—These short-term notes, also referred to as commercial paper, are available in $25,000 minimum amounts. Their safety rating is P-1 by Moody's—the highest given.

In April GMAC offered $200,000,000 in nine-months to five-year medium-term notes with coupon rates of 7¾ per cent to 8¼ per cent for the longest maturity. Since commercial paper is an unsecured obligation of the issuing company (a promissory nate) the financial stability of the issuer is an important consideration in assessing the safety of the note. Shorter-term commercial paper is available in $25,000 amounts directly from a long list of companies. Interest rates in this area vary rapidly and depend on the length of the obligation and the security rating of the issuer.

Q — I recently purchased 500 shares of Niagara Mohawk Power (NYSE). Your comments on this utility for income would be appreciated. —S.S.

Q — Most of my 200 shares of Niagara Mohawk were bought at $29. Do you think that I should keep or sell this? —W.D.

A — Niagara shares are currently selling to yield 12.5 per cent, reflecting both the narrow coverage of the $1.18 per share dividend rate and the company's increasingly difficult financial position. In order to meet proposed capital spending of $1.63 billion through 1978, NMK will have to raise $1 billion in capital externally. However, $42 million of the proposed $275 million budgeted for construction this year was deferred, and $91 million was slashed from the 1975 budget.

By November 1975 some $132 million in bonds will be maturing, placing an additional financial burden on this utility. A common stock and a pollution control bond offering, both in June, brought in about $78 million in new capital.

While the New York Public Service Commission granted a $35 million rate boost early this year, a $36 million interim request (of $73 million in permanent rate increases asked for by NMK) was denied. At present only 33 per cent of generating capacity is oil-fired, but a new 850,000 kw. plant due to begin operating in 1977 will also be oil operated. Although the dividend will no doubt be maintained, share price recovery is not an early prospect, in my view. I would suggest easing from this situation into a more promising issue.

Wall Street Chatter

NEW YORK (UPI) — "One of the stock market depressants, what commonly is called Watergate, has been removed," says Thompson & McKinnon Aunchincloss Kohlmeyer Inc., "but the other depressants remain: inflation, high interest rates and declining discretionary purchasing power." The firm says if there is any improvement in the investment situation it is psychological rather than fundamental. But an easing in interest rates "would be both fundamentally and psychologically bullish," it adds.

"A resumption of economic growth will be delayed and corporate earnings will decline in 1975, but a decline in interest rates by the November elections could still touch off a major bull market recovery in both the stock and bond markets," according to Wright Investors' Service. The Bridgeport, Conn. firm predicts a 20 per cent drop in earnings for the Dow Jones industrial average in 1975 from 1974 results. Investors should maintain "a moderate-cash-equivalent reserve position," it says.

If President Ford does not intend to seek the presidency in 1976, "he may accept the idea that the only cure for inflation is deflation," says Fraser Management Associates of Burlington, Vt. "Perhaps he will not be afraid of a recession, will refuse to jazz up the money supply, and will actually fight the inflation that is the main issue in the country today" the firm continued. Renewed confidence and optimism will generate exictement in Wall Street later when the Dow industrial average reaches the 900 zone, it adds.

Wells Fargo Bank of San Francisco also is concerned about the failure of productivitz to rise. It says earnings of industry per worker rose in the second quarter at an annual rate of only 8.8 per cent as against 8 per cent in the previous three quarters and that "since May we have observed a veritable explosion of wage demands in a broad cross-section of the economy. Also, non-union wages are now following union trends much more quickly."

A successful market test of recent lows should contain the Dow Jones industrial average in the 760 to 770 area, "while a breakdown would call for a terminal flushout of an additional 30 to 50 points," says Comparative Market Indicators of Bellevue, Wash. "Until the trend of the market and its behavior settles down," the firm continues, "it will be much safer to remain on the sidelines than to dodge the stampeding institutional elephants."

'Camelot' scheduled at Redlands Bowl

The Lerner and Loewe musical, "Camelot," will be presented in the Redlands Bowl at 8:15 tonight. This is the final production of the bowl's summer season. Admission is by free will offering.

Dr. Paul Little, director of theater arts at the University of Redlands, will play King Arthur; Redlands soprano Lynne Henderson will portray Guinevere, and Ron Murray of Hemet, who starred as Alessandro in last spring's Ramona Pageant, will be Lancelot.

A cast of 90 singers and dancers will be directed by Gary Krinke, with musical direction by Jack Wilson. Set design is by Jeffrey Little and choreography by Gayle Billhardt.

'Cinderella'

VCTeens do musical fairy tale

The VCTeens, youth auxiliary of Valley Community Theater, is having a royal romp these days with an adaptation of a second-rate Rodgers & Hammerstein musical on the old fairy tale, "Cinderella."

The play is a frolicsome bit of fluff, and the young people scamper through it with a commendable sense of fun. Lori Blackwell is a luverly Cinderella who capers with the best of them and sings charmingly. Nick Hooeyboer's Prince is suitably romantic and appealing.

Chris Michelski as Joy and Dee Dee Jernigan as Portia offer enthusiastic characterizations; Helen Demetrion, who also serves as assistant director, is a spritely fairy godmother, and little Stephen Gassner as the king and Debbie Richardson as the queen, are quite funny.

Others in the cast are David Gassner, Lee Lucas, Tracy McMillion, Chris Waldrip, Jacki Nagey, Scott Fleener, Carol Spencer, Chris Demetrion and Mollie Chirch.

Director Melton Newby sends his youthful charges through their paces at a lively clip, and musical director Patrice Doub provides polished accompaniment with the undistinguished score. She and Mark Schafer are on woodwinds, Dennis Castellano on piano, Alan Thompson on drums, and Chris Chapman on bass. It's a solid combo.

Colleen Schultz and Kathy Blackwell offer imaginative choreography, and Marlen Kellas, assisted by Karen Waldrip, designed the costumes.

The stage manager, Bill Blanco, was assisted by Pat England, David Gassner, Jim Thomson, Jay Mingus, Milton Sawitz, David Speidel, Lyn McMillion and Sharon Ericson. Blanco and Mingus did the lighting under the guidance of Brian Gale. Properties were handled by Gassner, Tracy McMillion, Fleener, David Spencer and Barbara Blackwell.

The VCTeens production is one of the projects of Valley Community Theater supported by a grant from the National Endowment for the Arts. Newly re-elected VCT president Mack Gilliland directs the program.

"Cinderella" will be presented at the theater, 132 E. Third St., Pomona, at 8 o'clock tonight and Saturday and next Thursday through Saturday. Reservations can be made by calling 622-6954.

VCT's fall season will open with "Fiddler on th Roof."

Somebody stole her marijuana

SEATTLE (UPI) — Kathy Corey admits it took "a lot of nerve" but she called the police anyway recently to report that 10 young marijuana plants she was growing had been stolen from her home.

She said she reported the theft to "get some action going" on the recovery of missing property taken in three other burglaries at her apartment.

"I suppose I had a lot of nerve to report it, but those were my plants and I don't feel it's wrong to be growing them," Mrs. Cory said. "If I have to go to jail for reporting it, I will."

She said the plants were about three months old and knee-high when they were stolen — far from ready for harvesting.

"Anybody who knows anything about marijuana would have waited and come back when they were ready," she said.

Texas longhorns

Texas longhorns live up to their name. As recently as 1941, a steer descended from those of old cattle trail days had a record horn spread of eight feet seven and three eighths inches, measured straight from tip to tip.

SWEET SKATER — Janet Lynn, five-time U.S. national skating champion, billed as "America's Sweetheart," will be guest star in the Shipstads and Johnson Ice Follies at the Forum in Inglewood Sept. 4-15. Miss Lynn, also a World and Olympic medalist, turned professional last year. Tickets to the ice show are on sale at most agencies.

Drama group plans 'Forum' in Fontana

The Fontana Mummers will present the musical comedy, "A Funny Thing Happened on the Way to the Forum," at the new Fontana Community Center on Cypress Avenue one block south of Foothill Boulevard at 8:30 p.m. next Thursday through Saturday and the following weekend.

The burlesque musical has music and lyrics by Stephen Sondheim. Robert E. Wussler directs.

The play tells of the efforts of a wily slave in ancient Rome to gain his freedom by catering to the yearnings of his lovesick young master and the master's lecherous father.

Local actors taking part in "Forum" are John Gaglio, Upland; Merilee Drake, Claremont; Lynne Lundquist, Montclair, and Bob Bennett, Cucamonga. Miss Drake also designed the Roman tunics, togas and gowns.

Reservations can be made at 823-7062 or 823-4578.

DANNY THOMAS, comic star of radio, television and nightclubs, will perform on KMPC's "Show of the World" at the Forum in Inglewood Sept. 28. Also on the card are Vikki Carr, Nancy Wilson, Roger Miller and others. The show is a benefit for the Permanent Charities Committee of the Entertainment Industries.

NAZI TAKEOVER? — It looks like Hitler's troops have captured a U.S. Marine Corps helicopter, but it's just an actors' break in the filming of "The Hindenburg" at El Toro Marine Air Base near Santa Ana. The film, which climaxes in the burning of the giant German dirigible, is being made at the two huge blimp hangars at the air base. The latest in the currently popular disaster films, "The Hindenburg" stars George C. Scott. The hangars are now used by the Marines as a helicopter base.

Perlman to play at Hollywood Bowl

Violinist Itzhak Perlman will be soloist with the Los Angeles Philharmonic in concerts at the Hollywood Bowl at 8 p.m. Tuesday and Wednesday. Pianist Brooks Smith will accompany him at the Wednesday concert. Zubin Mehta conducts.

On Tuesday the Israeli-born violinist will perform Mendelssohn's Concerto in E Minor for Violin and Orchestra. The program will also include Wagners "Rienzi" Overture, "Requiem for Survivors" and "Suddenly It's Evening" by Samuel and Elgar's "Enigma Variations."

The Wednesday concert will be made up of the Tartini-Kriesler Sonta in G Minor ("The Devils Trill)" Beethoven's Sonata in F ("Spring"), Stavinsky's "Suite Italienne," Three Caprices by Paganini, Rachmaninoff's "Vocalise' and "Scherzo Tarantelle' by Wieniawski.

Born in Tel Aviv, Perlman studied at the Academy of Music there, and was an experienced radio performer by the age of 10. In 1958 Ed Sullivan heard him play and took him to New York for a television appearance.

Perlman studied with Ivan Galamian and Dorothy DeLay in New York and made his Carnegie Hall debut in 1963. The following year he won the prestigious Leventritt Competition.

Tickets at $4, $3 and $2 are on sale at the bowl box office and at Mutual, Liberty and Wallich's agencies.

Max Baer

From has-been hillbilly to red-hot film producer

By DICK KLEINER

HOLLYWOOD — (NEA) — They laughed when Max Baer said he was going to make a movie.

Why shouldn't they laugh? After all, who was Max Baer?

Just some big, dumb joker, they thought, who figured since he was on a big hit TV series — The Beverly Hillbillies — for a few years he was a genius.

Max Baer make a movie? That's a hot one.

As it turned out, it was a hot one. The picture he made, a little something called "Macon County Line," is just about the hottest thing in the country at the moment.

It's nice to see a guy get the last laugh and that's what's happened to Baer. Nobody would give him a rumble when he said he was going to make his movie. They were just waiting for him to take a fall.

"Now,' Baer says, "it looks like it will be the biggest grosser in AIP's (American-International Pictures) history. It cost under a half-million to make. So far, in the four weeks it's been out, it's done five-and-a-half million. They estimate that the total will be somewhere between twenty-five and thirty million. That's big numbers."

Baer is, understandably, enjoying the turnabout in his fortunes. As a big man, he enjoys in a big way. He's dressing like a successful producer these days — jungle-type jacket with a string of beads, white-hunter hat — and he's reveling in the string of high-level meetings he has almost daily now with big men in town. Success breeds success.

He likes to look at the Hollywood trade papers, which virtually every day now carry headlines about him and his new company:

BAER PRODUCTIONS TO PRODUCE THREE FILMS FOR '74-'75

It's all enough to turn anybodys head, but Baer says his head is not for turning.

"My hat size is 7½," he says, "and it's going to stay 7½. My friends are my friends and my enemies are my enemies."

It's a case of the worm doing a pirouette. Last year at this time, Max Baer was in a bad way. He was finding it tough just getting a job.

"When the Hillbillies ended," he says, "it was tough. Tough isn't the word but it'll have to do. I couldn't get a job. Who wants an out-of-work hillbilly?

"I did two Love American Styles and a Movie of the Week. That's all. Three jobs in two-and-a-half years. My income dropped from $200,000 to $2,000."

Hollywood is no place for compassion. This is a town that loves a winner, but is always delighted to help kick a man down the ladder, once the momentum starts going that way.

So things got worse and worse for the big man. When he concluded that the only way they would get better was if he did it himself, he decided to make his own movie. He found the true story of "Macon County Line," wrote the script himself, produced it himself, starred in it himself.

And he financed it virtually himself.

"I borrowed" he says. "I signed a note. If it had gone down the drain, I would have been flat."

He had never written a word before he wrote the "Macon County Line" script. And he admits that he had never really acted before he acted that starring role. Somehow, it all worked. The picture has something, apparently, that appeals to today's audience.

Now that he's hot, he's getting offers — offers to act in movies and in TV. He's turning them all down to concentrate on his own productions.

"I wouldn't touch TV any more," he says, with a trace of bitterness. "They classified me once. They're not going to do it again. To a lot of people, I'm still Jethro."

At Monterey

Pianists slated at jazz fete

The opening show of the 17th annual Monterey Jazz Festival on Sept. 20 will feature major pianists from several countries.

Billed as the International Piano Forum, performers for the Friday evening concert include John Lewis, Eubie Blake, George Shearing, Martial Solal and Dillwyn Jones.

Lewis was for 21 years the musical director of the Modern Jazz Quartet. Raised in Albuquerke, N.M., he first gained prominence as a performer and artist with Dizzy Gillespie in 1946. He founded the Modern Jazz Quartet in 1952. Both the quartet, newly disbanded, and Lewis have gained international fame, appearing in countries around the world.

Lewis has also been serving as musical director of the Monterey festival for several years.

At 91, Blake has become recognized as the dean of the ragtime piano. He began his career at 17, playing in a Baltimore bordello. He and his singing partner, Noble Sissle, pioneered the entry of blacks into vaudeville with their 1923 Broadway hit "Shuffle Along."

From that came the well-known "I'm Just Wild About Harry.'' As a composer, Blake has wrotten over 300 compositions.

London-born Shearing was discovered by jazz critic Leonard Feather who set up his first recording date in 1937 and later arranged for the blind pianist's immigration to the United States.

At 21, Shearing was considered a success in England, playing in top supper clubs, appearing frequently on BBC and dominating the British jazz polls between 1941 and 1948.

After moving to New York City in 1947, he formed a quintet for the now historic 1949 record date which included "September in the Rain'' and became an overnight American sensation. His "Lullaby of Birdland," written in tribute to the New York jazz lounge where he once worked, has become one of the most recorded melodies of all time.

Pianist-composer Solal was born in Agliers where he began studying piano at 7. Since settling in France in the 1940s, he has written more than 20 background scores for motion pictures and played at jazz festivals in San Remo, Italy; Antibes, France; Berlin and Frankfurt, Germany; and Newport, R.I.

Jones, a native of England who became an American citizen in 1961, hosted the BBC jazz club for many years and was the first to introduce jazz over BBC television. In America, he has worked in the bands of Eddie Condon, Gene Krupa, Yank Lawson, Roy Eldridge, Jimmy McPartland, Wild Bill Davison, Tony Parenti, Max Kaminski, The Dukes of Dixieland, Ruby Braff and Bob Wilbur.

The 17th annual Monterey Jazz Festival is scheduled for the weekend of Sept. 20, 21 and 22. The five-concert festival will be held in the 7,000-seat arena on the Monterey County Fairgrounds. Ticket prices are $7.50, $6 and $5 for the Friday, Saturday and Sunday evening concerts; and $4 and $5 for the Saturday and Sunday afternoon concerts.
